PREFATORY MEMORANDUM.

Head mistresses and managers are permitted, with the approval of th
Inspectress, and in conformity with the general principles that underlie the curr culum, to make modifications in the distribution of the work in any subject amon the various classes.

Object Lessons have been prescribed as an optional subject from preparato
Class B to Class IV, but the subject should not be introduced into any school withou the permission of the Inspectress, who should satisfy herself that trained teache are available and can be spared for teaching them. In no case should the work entrusted to untrained teachers.

The teaching of English by the Direct Method should not be attempted exce by specially trained teachers. Where such teachers are not available in sufficie numbers for all classes, a teacher or teachers, qualified to give such instruction, mig be employed to supplement the ordinary class teaching by taking classes separate for an hour or so a week each.

ABSTRACT FROM THE MEMORANDUM ON HOME LESSONS.

(Issued under the authority of G. O. no. 790/XV—212, dated the 19*th August*, 1910, Educational department.)

The aim in setting home lessons should be that a girl should be able to prepare asks thoroughly, and yet have sufficient spare time to devote to healthy recrea- s, mental and physical, of her own choice :—

(a) In the Lower Primary and Preparatory sections no home lessons should be set at all. If the school hours are properly utilized, there is ample time for the teacher to teach and for the scholar to learn and apply what she has been taught.

(b) In the Upper Primary section the approximate time to be devoted to home lessons should not exceed one hour.

(2) Home work should not be exacted from a scholar in too many subjects on same day, nor too much in one subject. In this matter the head mistress must cise controlling authority over the class teachers. She should enquire from n from time to time what amount of work is set in the various subjects, and ıld see that too much time has not to be given to the study of one subject at expense of another.

(3) Home work is one of the most important means whereby the student can rained in the habit of doing things for herself. It must be something which she accomplish on the basis of what she has learnt in school, not something beyond powers which necessitates recourse to the assistance of a private tutor. A who is always being helped in the preparation of her home work by a private or loses confidence in herself and the habit of doing things independently. reover, work which is the result of collaboration with a private tutor affords no erion of the girl's capacity, progress or industry.

(4) Home work should be not only such as can be done without assistance, such as implies effort. It should never be merely mechanical exercise which olves no intellectual exertion. It should not, for example, consist of the trans- ption of "rough" work done in school. Under the influence of unsound tradi- n there has been, and still is, much waste of labour in this way. Such work is nual, not mental, and should be altogether unnecessary for girls who have been ined in habits of neatness and accuracy.

(5) It cannot be expected that girls should break much new ground for them- ves. They should therefore be almost exclusively occupied in going over the und already covered in class, and this work of assimilation should be tested by the cher at the beginning of a fresh lesson. It may therefore be laid down as a general e that written exercises upon matter not already taught in school should rarely set in the Upper Primary section. The work at home should take the form of apitulating the work done in the day and of training the memory, which at this ge may be most usefully exercised. But since scholars cannot be expected to e much interest in what they find neglected by the teacher, written exercises uld be punctually corrected and returned to them as soon as possible. It is most important that the work of this nature should never be allowed to fall i arrears.

083/70

(6) There is a tendency to relegate too much written work to out-of-scho hours. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the best means of training pup to write clearly, to arrange their work neatly, and to take pains is to insist these points in class note-books used in school under the eye of the mistress. The is plenty of time in school for written work of the nature of applying knowledg if the teacher arranges her lessons properly. It may, in fact, be laid down an almost invariable rule that no written work should be set as part of home lesso in the following subjects :—arithmetic and original composition, nor should work set in copy-book writing, in drawing or in elaborate map-making.

ENGLISH.

AIMS IN THE TEACHING OF ENGLISH.

The aims in the teaching of English are—

A. Practical.—To enable the pupil—

(1) to speak and read aloud English with correct pronunciation and some degree of facility;

(2) to understand the language when spoken;

(3) to write the language with grammatical correctness and with facility.

B. Literary.—To enable the pupil to read intelligently for pleasure modern English prose and pœtry of moderate difficulty.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN ENGLISH.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

Conversation and reading.—The early stages of instruction will be mainly oral and should include systematic training in the sounds of spoken English, in connection with pronunciation of easy words. By the end of the year the class should be able to carry on simple conversation about familiar objects and actions.

To read with correct pronunciation an easy primer, to render into the vernacular easy sentences from the primer, to use the words of the primer in simple sentences, and to answer in English simple questions based on the matter in the primer.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the primer; copy-writing in ruled books of easy familiar words; writing in copy-books (in the latter half of the course); dictation in ruled books of words and sentences previously read in the primer.

CLASS IV.

Conversation and reading.—To converse about common objects and actions, to read with correct pronunciation from a reader, to render into vernacular easy sentences from the reader, to use the words of the reader in simple sentences, and to answer in English simple questions based on the matter in the reader.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the reader; dictation in ruled books of words and sentences previously read in the reader; writing in copy-books.

Grammar.—To point out nouns, pronouns and verbs.

TEXT-BOOKS.

In classes III and IV the following primers and readers are prescribed :—

Class.	Nelson's Readers.	Christian Literature Society's Readers.	Macmillan's Readers.	Tipping's Direct Method Books (Macmillan & Co.).	Longmans' Readers.	The new Method Indian Readers (Gulab Singh & Sons),	The Star of India Readers (Blackie & Son).
III	Primer ...	Primers nos. I and II (4 annas each).	King Primer (5 annas) or Conversational Readers, First Primer (2 annas) and second Primer (3 annas); or Macmillan's Modern Indian Readers.—The Primer (1923 edition), (3 annas).	First Direct Method English Reader (5 annas).	Longmans' English Course for Indian Schools—1st year teachers' book (8 annas). For teachers' use only.	...	Book I (5*d.*)
IV	Book I ...	Indian Readers—Reader no. I (6 annas).	New English Reader I (5 annas) or Conversational Readers, Readers I and II (3 annas each); or Macmillan's Modern Indian Reader.—Book I (5 annas).	Second Direct Method English Reader (8 annas).	1st year reading book (4 annas).	Book I (10 annas).	Book II (7*d.*).

The English copy-books to be used are—

Class.	Series.
	Longmans, Green & Co.		Gulab Singh & Sons.	Blackie & Son (Vere Fosters).	Blackie & Son (Reversible copy-books).
	Upright.	Semi-upright.
III and IV ...	1,2,3. (Re 1-8-0 per dozen.)	2,3,4 (Re. 1-8-0 per dozen.)	1,2,3,4 (1 anna 6 pies each).	1,2 (2*d.* each.)	1,2 (4*d.* each.)

MATHEMATICS.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF MATHEMATICS.

Reasons for teaching Mathematics.—We teach Mathematics with a two-fold aim. On the one hand we use the subject as a means of developing the intelligence of the pupil, on the other hand we endeavour to make her skilful in such operations with numbers as are likely to be of practical use. Thus the teacher will endeavour to make clear to pupils the reasons which underlie processes, and will also train them to gain the power of rapid, accurate and confident calculation.

Neatness and arrangement in written work.—Great stress should be laid on neatness and care in arrangement. Errors in working can often be traced to slovenly arrangement or badly-formed figures. Pupils should be trained to arrange their work in a series of logical steps for each of which a reason can be given. Particular care should be taken in the early stages that units are not omitted, and that every line is a correct statement.

Oral work.—All new processes should be introduced and fixed in the mind by means of examples worked on the blackboard. These should involve only small numbers, so that calculations may be performed without resort to pen and paper. Even after a new rule has been established "Mental Arithmetic" should be a feature of most lessons. A few minutes given daily to the oral solution of problems is a valuable means of revising past work and in training pupils to gain rapidity and confidence in calculation. Up to Class IV the teaching should be largely oral.

Concrete illustrations.—Wherever possible, concrete aid should be used. In the earliest stages the various operations should be taught by means of illustrations with objects which can be easily procured, such as headless matches, nuts, etc.

Tables of weights and measures should be visualized by measurements of lengths, areas, volumes, capacities and weights; pupils should be practised in estimating the weights of common objects, the heights of tables and rooms, the areas of surfaces, the capacity of vessels, and the distances between fixed points in the class-room and play-ground; and should verify their estimates by experiments.

Nature of examples.—Once a rule has been learnt it should be applied to varied examples, both oral and written. Examples should, as far as possible, relate to matters within the experience of pupils, and the numbers employed should be such as are likely to occur in practice; thus although pupils should be made familiar with operations in British money, prices in problems should, as a rule, be given in Indian money. Operations with large numbers should be the exception, and when they are employed they should be taken from real life. To test the grasp of a new process and to connect it with what has been already learnt, it should be applied to problems which involve also the application of previous rules; thus no preceding rule should be allowed to drop out of sight.

Revision.—In no subject is revision more necessary than in Mathematics. As the mental machinery of pupils becomes somewhat rusty from lying up for the vacation, such revision is especially necessary at the commencement of each session.

Text-book.—Even the best text-book cannot take the place of the teacher. She has to expand the theory, which is usually a brief summary; she has also to provide the concrete illustrations to break down the artificial barriers which separate topic from topic and to supplement the lists of examples by supplying oral questions and by inventing problems which are likely to bring the subject into close touch with the interests of the pupils.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN ARITHMETIC.

PREPARATORY SECTION.

CLASS A.

Notation and numeration from 1 to 50 to be taught by means of concrete objects. Oral addition and subtraction of numbers whose sum does not exceed 20 in connection with concrete objects.

CLASS B.

Notation and numeration to 100 to be taught by means of concrete objects. Addition and subtraction of numbers whose sum does not exceed 100. Construction and memorising of tables 5 × 10. Simple oral problems on the above.

NOTE.—Problems should be introduced as soon as a new rule is begun.

LOWER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS I.

Revision. Notation and numeration to 1,000. Construction and memorising of tables 10 × 10. The four simple rules with no term or answer exceeding 1,000. Simple factors and multiplication and division by factors.

NOTE.—Short division should be taught before long division and should be used wherever possible.

Simple oral and written problems on the above.

CLASS II.

Revision. Notation and numeration to crores. Construction and memorising of tables up to 16 × 12. The tables of Indian money and weights with exercises in reduction. The four compound rules with miscellaneous problems. (Terms with many digits must not be used.) Oral exercises on all the rules learnt.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

Revision. Tables of time and linear and square measures in common use with application to simple problems. Domestic accounts. Simple idea of vulgar fractions with denominators limited to 3, 4, 5, 6, 10, 12, 16. Oral and written problems on the above.

CLASS IV.

Revision of previous work. Vulgar fractions; all examples to be simple and to be limited to two or three terms only, with small numbers as numerator and denominator. L.C.M. to be taught as required for the addition and subtraction of fractions. Simple examples in unitary method.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Arithmetic.

The books recommended for use are—

Classes I and II.—Girls' Lower Primary Arithmetic (Urdu or Hindi), Macmillian & Co. (Urdu, 11 annas; Hindi, 10 annas); or Girls' Primary Arithmetic, Book I (Urdu or Hindi), by K. C. Bhattacharya, Indian Press, Allhabad (12 annas each).

Classes III and IV.—Anglo-Vernacular School Arithmetic for Classes III and IV (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (Urdu, 10 annas; Hindi, 9 annas and 3 pies); or Modern Arithmetic, Book I (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Indian Press, Allahabad (8 annas).

These Arithmetics are recommended for use provisionally, pending the publication of new Arithmetics for girls' schools.

GEOGRAPHY.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING GEOGRAPHY.

Geography is on the one hand a study of the configuration of the earth—its continents, seas, mountains, forests, rivers, etc.; on the other hand it is a study of the needs of man and how he makes provision for these needs. Thus we only partly teach Geography if we limit our teaching to a study of physical facts; the chief value of these facts is that they help us to understand how men live and work in different parts of the earth.

In studying a country consider it first as a whole—its general build, the long and short slopes of the land, the way in which rivers run, where there are large fertile tracts, where deserts and where forests. Then in more detail, the great mountain ranges, the chief river basins, the great plains, the climate, the population and occupations, the political divisions, the trade routes, and towns. For each of these topics a separate map should be drawn on the blackboard and by the pupils.

The teaching should not be confined to a mere list of names. Facts are of value only if brought into relation with other facts. The teacher should point out why here there is a forest, there a desert; how the nature of the coast has promoted intercourse with other countries, how mountains have prevented intercourse; how rivers have promoted trade and density of population; what natural resources have given rise to particular industries; how the climate has influenced the life and work of the people. Facts are needed and must be learnt; but a fact is remembered with greater ease if it is understood, and facts are of use only if we can connect them with causes and results.

In giving facts to the class something more than a bare recital is needed. No subject makes greater demands on the descriptive powers of the teacher. She should endeavour to carry the pupils in imagination to the country she is describing; to do this she should, as far as possible, supplement vivid description by pictures, photographs, picture postcards, and, if suitable arrangements can be made, lantern slides.

Sketch maps by pupils.—The pupil's note-book should contain a series of sketch maps for each country, each map illustrating a particular feature. Thus one map should contain the mountain system, a second map the river system, a third the distribution of rainfall, and so on. Almost every topic discussed can be illustrated by a sketch map and benefits thereby. In order to draw these sketch maps it is not necessary for pupils to learn to draw the outline by heart, except perhaps in the case of India, whose outline is easily remembered. The teachers should supply blank outline maps (cyclostyled or printed), and these should be used to illustrate various topics. Many maps, each illustrating a single feature, are preferable to one elaborate map crowded with details.

Blackboard map by the teacher.—These should be built up as the lesson proceeds; each map should contain the elements essential to the lesson and no others. Coloured chalks are a valuable help; they make the various features stand out clearly from one another, and if the same colour be used consistently to represent the same features, e.g., red for high land, blue for rivers, yellow for towns, etc., much time will be gained. Outline maps drawn on blackboard cloth are convenient as the basis for these maps; they may be procured from Messrs. G. Phillip & Son, through Messrs. Longmans, Green & Co., Bombay.

Books and apparatus.—The teachers should consult the "Guide to Geographical Books and Appliances," published for the Geographical Association by G. Phillip & Son (Messrs. Longmans, Green & Co., Bombay). (6*s*.)

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN GEOGRAPHY.

LOWER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS I.

Story lessons describing the life of children in Arabia, Japan, Africa, and of the Esquimos.

NOTE.—The course should be introduced where the school wishes to do it and can make satisfactory arrangements for teaching it.

CLASS II.

Story lessons describing the life of children in England, Russia, Italy, Holland, and France.

NOTE.—The course should be introduced where the school wishes to do it and can make satisfactory arrangements for teaching it.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

General Geography.—Measurements of distances; direction, North, South, East, West, North-East, North-West, South-East, South-West; drawing of North and South line in play-ground by means of shadow cast by vertical stick; meaning of scale; plan of class-room, plan of school and play-ground; explanation of the map of the district; description of town or village in which the school is situated and of surrounding country.

CLASS IV.

General Geography.—Revision of the work of class III.

The Himalayas, the Deccan Plateau, the Eastern and Western Ghats, the coast strips and the towns, Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Delhi, Allahabad, Lucknow, Cawnpore.

Description of Northern India with reference to the nature of the country and the climate.

The following maps to be drawn by the pupils :—

(1) Map of India, showing the Himalayas, the Sulaiman Mountains, the Vindhyas, the Indus with the five rivers of the Punjab, the Ganges with its main tributaries, the position of the United Provinces.

(2) Map of the United Provinces, showing divisions and their headquarters.

The World.—Shape of the Earth, its rotation, light and darkness, land and water, the names and relative position on the globe of continents.

NOTE.—Where arrangements can be made, oral lessons should be given in Classes III and IV describing typical scenery or the life of man in various parts of the world. They should be illustrated by pictures, lantern slides, etc. In preparing these lessons the teachers should consult the following books :—World Pictures, by J. B. Reynolds (Black) (3*s.* 6*d*); Man in Many Lands, by Lyde (Black) (6*s.*); and the Peeps at Many Lands Series (Black) (3 s. each).

Physical Geography.—Explanation of the following terms by reference to the globe and map :—Continent, ocean, gulf, bay, lake, strait, cape, peninsula, isthmus, mountain, island. Description of the sea.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Geography.

Class IV.—Anglo-Vernacular School Geography, Book I, Part 1 (Urdu or Hindi), published by Longmans, Green & Co. (Urdu, 10 annas; Hindi, 8 annas) ;*

or

A preliminary Geography of India and Asia with the British Empire in Outline, Book I (Urdu or Hindi), Indian Press, Allahabad (Re. 1).

These Geographies are recommended for use provisionally, pending the preparation of new Geographies for girls' schools.

Books recommended for teachers' reference for Classes I and II are—

Little Folks in Many Lands. (Blackie & Son, Bombay.) (2*s.*).
Each and All. Jane Andrews. (Green & Co., London.)
Seven Little Sisters. Jane Andrews. (Green & Co., London.)
Little People in Far-Off Lands Series. F. Tapsell (Arnold & Son, Leeds), (3*d.* each).

VERNACULAR.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF VERNACULAR.

The aim of the study of the Vernacular is—

(1) to enable the pupils to understand and to appreciate Vernacular literature;

(2) to train them in clear and idiomatic expression.

* The Anglo-Vernacular School Geography, Book I, Parts I to III (Urdu or Hindi) is also available in one volume (Urdu, Rs. 2-4; Hindi, Re. 1-4).

Method of teaching.—The subject-matter of the lessons should from the first be made the basis of conversation in order that the pupils may grasp its meaning and take an intelligent interest in it. Difficult words and phrases should be explained with reference to their context, and not by substituting synonyms except in the cases where the latter are very familiar to the pupils. In reproducing a lesson the pupils should be trained to single out the salient facts or ideas, and should not merely give a running paraphrase of its entire contents.

The teaching of composition should begin with oral work in the lowest classes; by its means the children will learn to frame sentences, to use the new words and phrases learnt in their reading, and to give expression to their thoughts. When they have some mastery of writing and spelling, written composition should be given regularly; the subjects should be simple and familiar, and the main aim of the work should be to train the pupils in clear and straightforward expression.

Handwriting.—Takhtis should invariably be used in the preparatory section and Class I. In Class I writing on paper with reed pens may be begun, but practice in writing on takhtis should still be given periodically. Slates should never be used either for copies or dictation in any of the classes. Reed pens must be used for copy-writing and transcription, and ordinary English pens should never be used for Vernacular script. Great care should be taken from the very beginning that the pupils should acquire the right method of holding and turning their pens. The position in writing must be regarded as of great importance; takhtis should be supported on the knee and copy-books should be placed either on a takhti correctly held or on a desk.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN VERNACULAR.

(URDU OR HINDI.)

PREPARATORY SECTION.

CLASS A.

Reading.—To read correctly words and easy sentences from a primer.

Writing.—To copy characters and easy words from a primer. Special takhtis with letters and figures in indelible ink are recommended for use.

CLASS B.

Reading.—To read sentences at sight from the text-book; to know the meanings of words; and to answer questions on the subject-matter of the reader.

Writing.—To copy sentences from the text-book in Urdu or Nagri character. Special takhtis with letters and figures in indelible ink are recommended for use.

LOWER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS I.

Reading.—To read accurately at sight from the text-book; to explain the meanings of words and sentences; and to answer questions on the subject-matter of the reader.

Writing.—To write sentences to dictation from the text-book in Urdu or Nagri character. Copy-books to be shown.

DRAWING AND BRUSHWORK.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING DRAWING.

Method.—Teachers of drawing should bear in mind that it is far more important to train the eye and develop the suppleness of the hand than to produce mechanically accurate copies of drawings. They should therefore see that pencils of suitable length are used and kept properly pointed. They should forbid the shifting and turning of the paper in the process of drawing and insist on the adaptation of the hand to the lines required. They must accept responsibility for seeing that scholars do a satisfactory amount of work, and while on the one hand hasty and untidy work is to be checked, on the other hand, anything of a laboriously minute and mechanical nature is to be avoided.

In free-hand drawing no mechanical aids should be allowed.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN DRAWING.

PREPARATORY SECTION.

CLASS A.

Drawing of straight lines, squares, and oblongs.

CLASS B.

Drawing of curved lines, circles, and figures like circles, bounded by curved lines (on slate). Drawing to be taught on the blackboard; no books to be prescribed.

LOWER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS I.

As in Macmillan's Official Drawing Book, no. 1 (6 annas); or as in Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 1; or as in Indian Drawing Books for Vernacular Schools, Book I (4 annas); or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 1, in Urdu or Hindi (6 annas); or as in Indian Drawing Copy-slips for Vernacular Schools, no. 3, published by the School Book and Apparatus Dépôt, Lucknow (2 annas); (slates to be used during the first half-year, then paper).

CLASS II.

As in Macmillan's Official Drawing Book, no. 2 (6 annas); or as in Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 2; or as in Indian Drawing Books for Vernacular Schools, Book II (4 annas); or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 2, in Urdu or Hindi (6 annas); or as in Indian Drawing Copy-slips for Vernacular Schools, no. 4, published by the School Book and Apparatus Dépôt, Lucknow (2 annas).

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

As in Macmillan's Official Drawing Book, no. 3 (6 annas); or as in Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 3; or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 4 (6 annas); or as in Indian Drawing Book, no. III, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad (4 annas).

CLASS IV.

As in Macmillan's Official Drawing Book, no. 4 (6 annas); or as in Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 4; or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 4 (6 annas); or as in Indian Drawing Book, no. IV, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad (4 annas).

N.B.—Teachers of limited experience in the teaching of Drawing are recommended to use "Longmans' Complete Drawing Course, Part I," by I. H. Morris (Longmans, Green & Co.) (6*s*.). Teachers of Drawing in schools where Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Books are used are recommended to use "Teachers' Drawing Manual" in English, Urdu or Hindi, by H. Banbery (Indian Press, Allahabad) (Rs. 2 each).

Books recommended for the use of drawing masters:—

Imaginative Drawing, volume II, by E. A. Branch, published by Evans Bros. London.

भारती
प्रयाग

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN BRUSHWORK.

PREPARATORY SECTION.

CLASS A.

Free-arm drawing on the blackboard or on slates, of straight lines, squares, and oblongs with coloured chalks—the squares and oblongs being filled up with a mass of colour on the same system as the brushwork.

CLASS B.

Free-arm drawing as in the Preparatory Section A, and free-arm drawing on the blackboard or on slates of curved lines, circles, and figures like circles, bounded by curved lines with coloured chalks—all figures being filled up with a mass of colour on the same system as the brushwork.

LOWER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS I.

Some of the elements and their combination in brushwork which compose simple flowers and leaves—those known technically as blobs, lines, and spots.

CLASS II.

Further brushwork forms, lily-leaves, and thick curves.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

Petals and right and left petal curves, with combinations of all the past work.

CLASS IV.

Various combinations of past forms, making leaves, etc., and well-known flowers.

BOOKS FOR TEACHERS' USE.

The following are recommended for teachers' use :—

Longmans' Charts of Colour, Drawing, and Design in three series, by Cecil L. Burns, Principal, School of Art, Bombay, together with a Teacher's Handbook explaining the charts. (Rs. 18.)

Elementary series.—Ten sheets containing alternate lessons in colour and geometrical drawing.

Intermediate series.—Ten coloured copies of leaf-forms with a sheet of geometrical problems and exercises showing their connection with geometrical patterns.

The Book of School Colour Work, volumes I and II, by E. A. Branch, published by Evans Bros., London.

HYGIENE.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF HYGIENE.

The aim in teaching hygiene is a practical one, i.e., to enable the girls to live healthy lives and to secure healthy conditions in their homes.

The formation of good habits while young is the only certain means of securing these ends, and teachers should use all means in their power to train children from the lowest class upwards in habits of cleanliness and order; the theoretical instruction that comes later should show them the reason for habits they have already formed and give principles for regulating their future lives. • • •

In the lessons in home nursing and first-aid the pupils should be given regular practice in carrying out the instructions given in them, e.g., they should have practice in applying bandages, making beds for invalids, etc. They should not be brought into contact with actual illness, but for the purpose of practice one of the members of the class can act the part of the invalid.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

LOWER AND UPPER PRIMARY SECTIONS.

CLASSES II AND III.

Practical training in the care of house and class-room and in habits of personal tidiness and cleanliness.

CLASS IV.

Informal instruction on cleanliness of air, water, milk, food, clothing, person.

Practical work.—Plant experiments to show need of air and light. Care of sick-rooms. Boiling of milk and water; burning of rubbish, etc. Making of beds, soaking bandages and changing them, etc. Use of boracic solution.

Books recommended for the use of teachers are—

Tandurusti ki Pahli Kitab, by Colonel J. W. D. Megaw, Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (12 annas.)

Swasth Raksha ke Prathmic Niyama (the Hindi version of Colonel J. W. D. Megaw's First Laws of Health), Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (12 annas.)

Chart Rules of Health in Urdu, by B. J. Sahni, Lahore. Mounted on cloth with rollers. Rs. 2-8-0.

Elementary Hygiene for Beginners, by C. F. Wanhills (Blackie & Son). 14 annas.

Hindustani Gharon men Timardari in Urdu (Indian Home Nursing), by Dr. Major Muhammad Abdul Hakim, State Surgeon, Rampur State. Rs. 3.

COOKING.

CLASSES III AND IV.

Courses to be proposed for the approval of the Inspectress of Girls' Schools.

SEWING.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF SEWING.

In teaching sewing the aim should be to train the pupil to do neat and careful work and to finish it well.

The younger children should be supplied with coarse soft material and with large needles; fine stitching should not be required from them, as it is injurious to their eyes.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN SEWING.

PREPARATORY SECTION.

CLASS A.

Threading a needle; making knots; use of thimble; tacking and running.

CLASS B.

Running, running double seams; placing; twisting threads; back-stitching.

Optional.—Spinning.

LOWER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS I.

Practice in running and back-stitching; top-sewing; hemming.

Optional.—Chikan stitch; kachcha phanda; ulti-bakhya (stem-stitch); spinning.

CLASS II.

Hemming, run and fell; knitting with two needles (plain); darning stitch on untorn material.

Optional.—Chikan stitch; pakka phanda; hem-stitching; crochet (chain stitch); spinning.

UPPER PRIMARY SECTION.

CLASS III.

Sewing on buttons and tapes and loops; button hole stitch; darning a hole; gathering and setting in; knitting (plain and purl); casting on and off with two needles.

Optional.—Chikan stitch; sursiri; crochet; feather-stitching; spinning.

CLASS IV.

Darning; patching; knitting on four needles (plain and purl); button holes; practice of stitches previously learnt; to cut out and make up a simple garment, e.g., kurta or pinafore.

Optional.—Chikan stitches; bakhya; hathkati; crochet; satin stitch; spinning.

OBJECT LESSONS.

Courses to be proposed for the approval of the Inspectress of Girls' Schools.

CLAY-MODELLING AND CALISTHENICS.

Courses to be proposed for the approval of the Inspectress of Girls' Schools.

Director of Public Instruction, United Provinces.

Curriculum for the Middle Section of Anglo-Vernacular Boys' Schools, United Provinces, for 1925-26.

PREFATORY MEMORANDUM.

Head Masters and Managers of Secondary English schools are permitted, with the approval of the Inspector, and in conformity with the general principles that underlie the curriculum, to make modifications in the classwise distribution of the work in any subject. Permission is also given, when the general approval of the Inspector has been obtained, to re-group scholars in classes above the primary stage for Arithmetic, Drawing, Classical Languages, Manual Training and Science, independently of the recognized classification.

English is no longer to be used as the medium of instruction in classes up to and inclusive of class VIII; History, Geography, Science and Mathematics are to be taught in the student's own language; but the use of English technical terms should be encouraged in classes VII and VIII.

The teaching of English by the Direct Method should not be attempted except by specially trained teachers. Where such teachers are not available in sufficient numbers for all classes, a teacher or teachers, qualified to give such instruction, might be employed to supplement the ordinary class teaching by taking classes separately for an hour or so a week each.

Informal teaching on the subject of good manners should be given in all schools, and Head Masters may add at their discretion to the reading matter of any class of the Middle Section, such portions of Madan-i-Tehzib, by Mirza Habib Husain, Khan Bahadur, as they may deem suitable for the class. The book is available in two parts at five annas and six pies each.

Hygiene and Temperance Teaching.

Informal talks in class on hygiene and on the evils, both physical and moral, resulting from intemperance should be held by teachers at intervals during the session.

Where satisfactory arrangements can be made, informal lectures on hygiene should also be given to classes VII to X on the lines of the syllabus given in the Appendix.

Note 1.—Books recommended for the use of teachers are:—

Articles on Health by Major Megaw, I.M.S. (In the War Journal.)

Alcohol and the Human Body, by Sir Victor Horsely and Mary D'Sturge (Macmillan and Co.).

Alcohol and Life, by J. A. Hunter (Macmillan and Co.).

Manual of Temperance (Urdu or Hindi), by M. Mewa Ram, B.A., late Inspector of Schools, Jhansi division.

The First Laws of Health (a Health Reader for Indian Schools), by Lieut.-Colonel Megaw. (Oxford University Press, Calcutta, 1921). Re. 1.

Hifzan-i-sehat, Parts 1 and 2, in one volume in Urdu, by M. Rahmat Elahi Siddiqi, Lucknow (corrected edition), Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow.

Chart Rules of Health in Urdu, by B. J. Sahni, Lahore. Mounted on cloth with rollers. Rs. 2-8.

Elementary Hygiene for Beginners, by C. F. Wanhills (Blackie and Sons). Re. 1.

Note 2.—Head Masters should see that the subjects are not neglected and that the teaching is not merely perfunctory.

APPENDIX.

Suggested syllabus of forty lessons on hygiene, ten each in classes VII, VIII, IX and X.

Lessons I—X.

The skeleton : head with brain, trunk with vital organs, limbs, muscles and joints and their movements. The blood and its purification in the heart and lungs, with a brief treatment of these organs. The stomach and intestines. The body as a whole, working and growing, replacement of waste from the various sources, and the addition of entirely new tissues.

Lessons XI—XX.

Nutrition and digestion : character and value of foods with rules governing eating : water, its function in the body, various means of contamination, precautions to be observed in its use.

Lessons XXI—XXX.

Regular excretion. The skin and its functions. Cleanliness of the skin, mouth, teeth, eyes and ears. Cleanliness of clothes, beds and houses.

Lessons XXXI—XL.

Air : function of respiration ; vitiation of the atmosphere and its effects on the individual ; rules for ventilation. Physical exercises, its purpose and necessity ; types of physical exercises suitable at various stages. Rest and sleep. Correct breathing and use of vocal organs. Postures for standing, writing and reading ; the "squatting" posture. Effects of alcohol and tobacco on the organs.

Common accidents and their treatment. Common diseases and necessary preventive measures, Malaria, enteric, dysentery, cholera, plague, small-pox. A simple treatment of the eye and sight with rules for light when working.

Books for the use of teachers.

Hygiene and Physiology : By Drummond (Arnold).
The Laws of Health : By C. Douglas (Blackie).
School Hygiene : By Newsholm and Pakes (Sonnenschein).
Manual of Hygiene for use in India : By Banks (Macmillan).
Physical Education and Hygiene : By Welpton (University Tutorial Press).
School Hygiene : By Lyster (University Tutorial Press, London).
Physiology Charts : (E. J. Arnold and Son, Leeds and Glasgow).

MEMORANDUM ON HOME LESSONS.

(Issued under the authority of G. O. no. 790/XV—212, dated the 19*th August*, 1910, Educational department.)

From the frequent complaints received regarding the excessive amount of work set to scholars by teachers for preparation at home there is reason to believe that the proper relation between work done out of school by the scholar and work done in the class-room is not always perfectly understood. Investigation has disclosed much divergence of opinion as to the amount of home lessons that may be reasonably exacted from the pupil in the different stages of his school career, the kind of work most suitable for preparation out of school hours, and the proper distribution of the time available for home preparation among the different subjects of study. Enquiries concerning the prevalent practice yield the conclusion that the matter is left too much to the discretion of individual teachers. Sometimes the pupil is expected to prepare for every lesson in school, and sometimes the work set is wholly unsuitable in both quantity and quality for study at home. The matter clearly does not receive the attention it deserves and since the abuse of the system of home lessons may produce permanent injury, both physical and mental, it is necessary that steps should be taken to protect scholars from it. It is desirable, therefore, without prescribing any rigid uniformity of system, to lay down certain general principles for the guidance of teachers.

(1) The fundamental principle on which home work rests is one which, it is to be feared, is too often forgotten, viz., that teaching and learning are two complementary processes, neither of which can be dispensed with or divorced from the other without detriment to educational progress. Activity on the part of the teacher must correspond to activity on the part of the learner. If either is absent, the process becomes one-sided and the result barren. Accordingly the teacher who confines himself to the "delivery" of lessons in school, with which home work is not at all or imperfectly correlated, will be little less deserving of condemnation than the teacher at the opposite pole, who neglects his class teaching and endeavours to make up for it by setting long tasks to be done at home.

(2) Though axiomatic it is too often forgotten that home work must be adapted, both in quantity and quality, to the capacity and the age of the scholar Home work should not exceed the quantity which a boy of average capacity can be expected to prepare without undue mental strain and without engrossing all his spare time. The clever boy will no doubt take rather less and the dull boy rather more than the approximate time for home preparation indicated below, for they have been estimated to suit the capacity of the scholar of average ability. The aim in setting home lessons should be that a boy should be able to prepare his tasks thoroughly, and yet have sufficient spare time to devote to healthy recreations, mental and physical, of his own choice :—

In classes above the lower primary stage the approximate time to be devoted to home lessons should not exceed in the Lower Middle Section one and a half hours, in the Upper Middle Section two hours, and in the High Section from two to three hours.

(3) Home work should not be exacted from a scholar in too many subjects on the same day, nor too much in one subject. In this matter the Head Master must exercise controlling authority over the class teachers. He should enquire from them from time to time what amount of work is set in the various subjects, and should see that too much time has not to be given to the study of one subject at the expense of another.

(4) Home work is one of the most important means whereby the student can be trained in the habit of doing things for himself. It must be something which he can accomplish on the basis of what he has learnt in school, not something beyond his powers which necessitates recourse to the assistance of a private tutor. A boy who is always being helped in the preparation of his home work by a private tutor loses confidence in himself and the habit of doing things independently. Moreover work, which is the result of collaboration with a private tutor, affords no criterion of the boy's capacity, progress or industry.

(5) Home work should be not only such as can be done without assistance but such as implies effort. It should never be a merely mechanical exercise which involves no intellectual exertion. It should not, for example, consist of the transcription of " rough " work done in school. Under the influence of unsound tradition there has been and still is much waste of labour in this way. Such work is manual, not mental, and should be altogether unnecessary for boys who have been trained in habits of neatness and accuracy.

(6) In the lower stages it cannot be expected that boys should break much new ground for themselves. They should therefore be almost exclusively occupied in going over the ground already covered in class, and this work of assimilation should be tested by the teacher at the beginning of a fresh lesson. The work at home should take the form of recapitulating the work done in the day and of training the memory, which at this stage may be most usefully exercised. But since scholars cannot be expected to take much interest in what they find neglected by the teacher, written exercises should be punctually corrected and returned to them as soon as possible. It is most important that the work of this nature should never be allowed to fall into arrears. In the higher classes pupils will of course have to break ground for themselves, e.g., to solve " a deduction," to study the history or the literary text-book, for the next day's lesson.

(7) There is a tendency to relegate too much written work to out-of-school hours. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the best means of training pupils to write clearly, to arrange their work neatly, and to take pains is to insist on these points in class note-books, used in school under the eye of the master. There is plenty of time in school for written work of the nature of applying knowledge, if the teacher arranges his lessons properly. It may, in fact, be laid down as an almost invariable rule that no written work should be set as part of home lessons in the following subjects :—Arithmetic, algebra, grammar exercises, original composition and science; nor should work be set in copy-book writing, in drawing or in elaborate map-making. In the higher classes, where a greater variety of subjects is taught, and consequently time has to be economized, sketch maps and geometrical constructions may have to be done at home.

The abatement of the evil of excessive or unsuitable home lessons is a matter of such urgency and importance that now that their attention has been directed to it, it is hoped that Managers of schools and Head Masters will lose no time in making a searching enquiry into the practice prevailing in their own schools and take measures along the lines indicated above to prevent abuses in future. The responsibility for seeing that the nature and amount of home lessons set throughout the school are suited to the capacities of scholars is an important part of a Head Master's duties, and he should from time to time assure himself that the teachers are acting strictly in accordance with his instructions.

3. (a) History.
   (b) Geography (General and Physical).
4. Vernacular (Urdu or Hindi).
5. Nature Study and Elementary Science (see general letter no. G.-17/XVII—109, dated the 8th May, 1920).
6. One of the following subjects :—
   (i) A classical language (Persian, Arabic or Sanskrit).
   (ii) Drawing.
   (iii) Manual Training.
   (iv) Science.
7. Physical Training.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X—TWO YEARS' COURSE.

The two classes of the High Section are in direct preparation for the High School Examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces.

The High School Examination is held and the courses of study are prescribed by the Board and published in a separate prospectus.

AIMS IN THE TEACHING OF ENGLISH.

The aims in the teaching of English are—

A. Practical.—To enable the pupil—

(1) to speak and read aloud English with correct pronunciation and some degree of facility;

(2) to understand the language when spoken.

(3) to write the language with grammatical correctness and with faility.

B. Literary.—To enable the pupil to read intelligently for pleasure modern English prose and poetry of moderate difficulty.

C. Linguistic.—To qualify the student by the systematic study of the structure of the language and by practice in its use for the further study of English literature.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN ENGLISH.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Conversation and reading.—To carry on simple conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation from a reader; to render into the Vernacular passages from the reader; to use the words of the reader in simple sentences and to answer in English questions based on the matter in the reader.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the reader; dictation in ruled books of words and sentences previously read in the reader; writing in copy-books.

Grammar and Composition.—Revision of previous grammar in connection with more difficult sentences. Number and gender of nouns and pronouns, adverbs, prepositions and conjunctions (without sub-classification), interjections, the definite and the indefinite articles. The conjugation of the three simple tenses; the verb "to have" and the verb "to be." Oral and written exercises in the above.

Written composition (at least once a week), e.g., using the words and phrases of the reader in simple sentences. Written composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences (at least once a week).

CLASS VI.

Conversation, reading and recitation.—To carry on simple conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation from a reader; to render into the Vernacular passages from the reader; to use the words of the reader in simple sentences, and to answer in English questions based on the matter in the reader. To recite from memory passages chosen from the reader.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the reader; dictation in ruled books of passages chosen chiefly from the reader; writing in copy-books.

Grammar and composition.—Revision of previous work in grammar; nouns in apposition; classification of nouns, pronouns, adjectives and adverbs; cases of nouns and pronouns; direct and indirect object; verbs, number and person, transitive and intransitive, weak and strong; participles, conjugation of remaining tenses. Analysis of simple sentences. Oral and written exercises in the above.

Written composition (at least once a week), e.g., using the words and phrases of the reader in simple sentences, reproduction of simple stories, written practice in answering easy questions on the subject-matter of the text. Written composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences and continuous prose. In connection with the above incidental instruction in elementary points of arrangement, construction and punctuation.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Literary course (at least four periods a week).—To carry on conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation and expression from the prescribed text; to render into the Vernacular passages from the prescribed text; to form sentences and to answer questions in English based on the vocabulary of the text; to recite from memory suitable passages of English poetry and prose (to be selected by the Head Master).

Supplementary reading.—At least one easy book per session (for suitable books see lists of books issued separately).

Dictation and writing.—Dictation (at least once a week) of unseen passages of the standard indicated by the prescribed text. Writing in copy-books.

Grammar and composition.—Revision of previous work. Verbs, active and passive voices; moods; gerunds and verbal nouns; auxiliary verbs; complements of verbs; formal parsing; clause analysis of complex and compound sentences; elementary instruction in direct and indirect speech. Oral and written exercises in the above.

Written composition (at least once a week), including simple free composition, e.g., letter-writing and description and composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences and continuous prose. Incidental instruction in arrangement, construction and punctuation.

TEXT-BOOKS.

* In classes V to VIII the following readers are prescribed :—

V	Book II ...	Indian Readers— Reader no. II...	New English Reader II	Third Direct Method English Reader.	2nd year reading book	Book II ...	Book III.
VI	Book III...	Reader no. III, or Direct Method Series English Reader no. III.	New English Reader III	Fourth Direct Method English Reader.	3rd year reading book	Book III ...	Book IV.
VII	...	...	New English Reader IV and New English Reader IVB or New English Reader IV and High School Reader I or II.	...	4th year reading book ...	...	Book V.
VIII	...	...		...	Longman's new English Course for Indian schools :— Fifth reading book ...	...

The English copy-books to be used are—

Class.	Series.
	Longmans, Green & Co.		Gulab Singh and Sons.	Blackie & Sons (Vere Fosters), or Reversible Copy-books.
	Upright.	Semi-upright.
V	4, 5	6	5, 6	3, 4
VI	6, 7, 8	7	7,9, 10	5, 6
VII and VIII ...	10, 11, 12	8, 10	12, 13	* 7, 8, 9, 10

The books approved for translation exercises are those by—

(1) Gordon; (2) Stapley; (3) Dwarka Prasad; (4) Manual of Translation into English for Hindustani students, by E. S. Oakley; (5) Translation Practice in four parts for Lower and Upper Middle Sections, by B. D. Gordon (for use of the Middle Section); (6) Exercises in Translation from Urdu into English, by J. R. Cornah, published by Gulab Singh and Sons, Lahore.

The following books on English Grammar and Composition are recommended for use:—

(1) A Manual of English Grammar (Christian Literature Society for India, Madras).

(2) The Middle School English Grammar, Parts I and II (Standards V and VI), by L. Tipping (Macmillan and Co.).

(3) Longmans' Junior School Grammar for India, by D. Salmon and A. J. C. Oakley.

(4) A Simple Grammar of Modern English (Longmans, Green and Co.).

(5) The Suggestive Composition Book, Parts 2, 3 and 4 (Blackie and Sons).

(6) Lessons in English Composition, Books 1—3, by J. C. Nesfield (Macmillan and Co.).

(7) A Junior Course of English Composition, S. K. Nath and G. C. Nath, Calcutta.

(8) Progressive Practice Book in "Direct" English Composition—Oral and written, by P. Wren (K. and J. Cooper, Bombay).

(9) Picture Composition, Pupils' Book, by J. N. Fraser (K. and J. Cooper, Bombay).

(10) Middle School Grammar, Parts I and II, by E. Tydeman (Gulab Singh and Sons, Lahore). For use in Classes V to VIII.

(11) An Easy Course of English Grammar and Composition, K. and J. Cooper, Bombay (for use in the High Section).

(12) First Steps in English Grammar, by F. Ritchie (Longmans).

(13) Simple School Unseens, by Professor A. C. Mukerji (Macmillan and Co.).

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF MATHEMATICS.

Reason for teaching Mathematics.—We teach Mathematics with a two-fold aim. On the one hand we use the subject as a means of developing the intelligence of the pupil; on the other hand we endeavour to make him skilful in such operations with numbers as are likely to be of practical use. Thus the teacher will endeavour to make clear to pupils the reasons which underlie processes and will also train them to gain the power of rapid, accurate and confident calculation.

* No. 10 only in the case of the Vere Fosters series.

Neatness and arrangement in written work.—Great stress should be laid on neatness and care in arrangement. Errors in working can often be traced to slovenly arrangement or badly-formed figures. Pupils should be trained to arrange their work in a series of logical steps for each of which a reason can be given. Particular care should be taken in the early stages that units are not omitted, and that every line is a correct statement.

Oral work.—All new processes should be introduced and fixed in the mind by means of examples worked on the blackboard. These should involve only small numbers, so that calculations may be performed without resort to pen and paper. Even after a new rule has been established "Mental Arithmetic" should be a feature of most lessons. A few minutes given daily to the oral solution of problems is a valuable means of revising past work and in training pupils to gain rapidity and confidence in calculation. In Geometry definitions must be first explained and understood and then learnt by heart.

Concrete illustrations.—Wherever possible concrete aid should be used. In the earliest stages the various operations should be taught by means of illustrations with objects which can be easily procured, such as headless matches, nuts, etc. Tables of weights and measures should be visualized by measurements of lengths, areas, volumes, capacities and weights; pupils should be practised in estimating the weights of common objects, the heights of tables, rooms and buildings, the areas of surfaces, the capacity of vessels and the distances between fixed points in the class-room and play-ground and should verify their estimates by experiments. At a later stage in the teaching of vulgar fractions and decimals the foot-rule graduated in inches and twelfths of an inch and in centimetres and millimetres should be in constant use. The metric measures of length, area, volume, weight and capacity should be learnt thoroughly; the class should be given exercises in measurement of length in the metric system, and allowed to handle metric measures of weight and capacity, if available.

Nature of examples.—Once a rule has been learnt it should be applied to varied examples, both oral and written. Examples should, as far as possible, relate to matters within the experience of pupils, and the numbers employed should be such as are likely to occur in practice; thus although pupils should be made familiar with operations in British money, prices in problems should as a rule be given in Indian money. Operations with large numbers should be the exception, and when they are employed they should be taken from real life, census returns, statistics of trade, returns of revenue, etc. In multiplication and division of decimals the methods adopted in the early stages should be such as can be employed in contracted work at a later stage; thus the methods given in Hall, Stevens and Sims' School Arithmetic for Indian schools are preferable to the older methods. To test the grasp of a new process and to connect it with what has been already learnt, it should be applied to problems which involve also the application of previous rules; thus no preceding rule should be allowed to drop out of sight.

Correlation.—The teacher should take every opportunity to break down the partitions which usually separate the three branches of elementary Mathematics. Thus even at an early stage in Arithmetic "rules" should be expressed symbolically in the language of Algebra; thus the rule for the addition and subtraction of fractions may be stated in a general form as follows:—

$$\frac{a}{b}+\frac{c}{d}=\frac{ad+bc}{bd}$$

Algebraical methods should be freely employed in the solution of arithmetical questions, and the graphs should be used to solve questions both in Algebra and Arithmetic.

Revision.—In no subject is revision more necessary than in Mathematics. As the mental machinery of pupils becomes somewhat rusty from lying up for the vacation, such revision is especially necessary at the commencement of each session.

Text-book.—Even the best text-book cannot take the place of the teacher. He has to expand the theory, which is usually a brief summary; he has also to provide the concrete illustration, to break down the artificial barriers which separate topic from topic and to supplement the lists of examples by supplying oral questions and by inventing problems which are likely to bring the subject into close touch with the interests of the pupils.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN MATHEMATICS.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Arithmetic.—Revision.—More difficult examples in vulgar fractions. Vulgar fractions of concrete quantities. Practice, metric measures of length, weight and capacity; instruction to be as realistic as possible. Simple calculations in the four simple rules with decimal fractions (excluding recurring decimals). Conversion of vulgar fractions into decimal fractions to a given number of places, and vice versa (excluding recurring decimals). Oral and written problems in the above.

CLASS VI.

Arithmetic.—Revision.—Simple percentages. More difficult examples with decimal fractions (excluding recurring decimals). Decimal fractions of concrete quantities. The unitary method. Simple interest. Oral and written problems in the above. Units of length in the British and Metric systems. Calculations. Measurement of straight lines. Measurement of curved lines. Rule for the length of the circumference of a circle. The following experiments:—Find the number of c. m. in 1 inch: Measure the circumference and diameter of a circle and so find the value of 'pi'.

Geometry.—Drawing and measurement of straight lines and angles; parallel straight lines; angles of a triangle; construction of triangles and parallelograms.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Arithmetic.—Revision.—Units of area in the British and Metric systems. Rule for the area of a rectangle. Calculations. Experiment: By squared paper prove the formula for the area of a rectangle. Use of squared paper to find the area of figures other than rectangles. Formula for the area of a triangle. Experiment: By squared paper find the area of a triangle and irregular figures. Units of volume in the British and Metric systems. Rule for the volume of the rectangular solid. Calculations. Land measures in use in the United Provinces. Square root by factors. Simple and compound proportion. Proportional parts. Harder percentages. Profit and loss. Oral and written problems in the above.

Algebra.—Symbolical expression. Substitution. Brackets. Addition. Subtraction. Easy multiplication. Easy division. Simple equations with one unknown quantity. Graphs of straight lines. Plotting of statistics. Simultaneous equations involving two unknown quantities (both equations linear). Graphical solution of simultaneous equations. Simple problems involving the above.

Geometry.—As in the text-book prescribed.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The books recommended for use are—

ARITHMETIC.

FOR CLASSES VII AND VIII.

(1) A School Arithmetic for Indian Schools by Hall, Stevens and Sims (Macmillan).

(2) Longmans' Senior Arithmetic [Indian edition, by Dexter, Garlick and Pollard (Longmans, Green and Co.)].

(3) A New Arithmetic for Indian Schools by Workman and Sims (Gulab Singh and Sons).

(4) Senior Modern Arithmetic (Indian Press, Allahabad). Rs. 1-8.

FOR CLASSES V AND VI.

Anglo-Vernacular School Arithmetic for Classes V and VI with answers at the end of the book (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (Urdu, 10 annas and 3 pies; Hindi, 10 annas); or Modern Arithmetic, Book II (Urdu or Hindi) (Indian Press, Allahabad) 5 annas.

ALGEBRA.

Baker and Bourne's Shorter Algebra (Bell and Sons), or Hall's School Algebra for Indian Schools, Part I (Macmillan and Co.), or Hall's Algebra for Middle Schools in India 1918 edition (for use in Middle Section), (Macmillan and Co.), or Elementary Algebra, Part I, by C. V. Durell and G. W. Palmer (Indian edition), 1921 (George Bell and Sons). Rs. 2-12-0.

GEOMETRY.

FOR CLASS VI.

Pierpoint's Elements of Geometry, Part I, Experimental Section. Urdu and Hindi editions (Indian Press, Allahabad),

or

Hall and Stevens' Lessons in Experimental and Practical Geometry (Macmillan and Co.).

भारती
प्रयाग

FOR CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Pierpoint's Elements of Geometry in Theory and Practice (the Indian Middle School edition), published by Longmans, Green and Co.

or

Hall and Stevens' School Geometry, Parts I and II (Macmillan and Co.).

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING HISTORY.

Class VI.—Whether the pupils have copies of the text-book or not is immaterial. If they have, the greatest care must be taken that the lesson does not develop into a reading lesson. Spontaneous narrative alone will secure the desired ends. As the story proceeds, the teacher should question the class to see whether they follow the course of events, and should encourage free communication of the feelings which the narrative produces in the minds of the pupils. The pupils may at intervals be required to write out a story which they have heard in their own words. No notes should be taken, for these will be memorised and reproduced. What is chiefly required of the teacher is a power of vivid narrative and of feeling the emotions which he strives to arouse. There should not be a written examination in this class, but occasionally the Head Master or a senior teacher should test the class as a whole by an oral examination.

Classes VII and VIII.—However simple the book may be there is an ever-present danger that the pupils will derive incorrect ideas from it. The lessons therefore should be read in class in sections of suitable length, the teacher confining his explanations of the text to making the meaning clear. After the reading he should, partly by narrative and partly by questions, build up a connected account of the events described. During this he should, as far as the means at his disposal allow, bring to the aid of the text pictures, sketch maps, time charts, reproductions of coins, and other historical objects. The aim at this stage is to connect the main facts as a whole and to develop a sense of time and of cause and effect. He should not fail to seize any chance of showing how one event was the natural outcome of others. The treatment should be largely biographical. New ground should as a rule be broken with the help of the teacher; the pupils however should independently learn at home what has been previously taught in class. It will be found useful to set the class questions to answer in writing at fairly frequent intervals. This makes for clarity of ideas and expression.

Classes IX and X.—The treatment does not differ radically from that in classes VII and VIII, but the pupils should usually read each day's lesson before it is taken up in class. The teacher should emphasize the sequence of events. It is often found effective at this stage to follow a topical order in preference to a chronological one, as this consolidates and systematizes the pupil's knowledge better.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN HISTORY.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS VI.

Easy Stories from Indian History in the Vernacular (one period a week).

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

History—Class VII.—Outline of Indian History up to the end of the Moghul Empire.

Class VIII.—Outline of Indian History from the decline of the Moghul Empire to the present time.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Class VI.—Allen's Heroes of Indian History in Urdu (revised edition) or Hindi, Longmans, Green and Co.,

or

Marsden's Stories from Indian History in Urdu or Hindi, (Macmillan and Co.).

Classes VII and VIII.—Tarikh-i-Hind, Parts 1 and 2, by E. Marsden and Lala Jiya Ram, Messrs. Macmillan and Co., 1922 Edition, Revised, Re. 1 each.

or

Bharat Barsh ka Itihas, Parts 1 and 2, by E. Marsden and Lala Sita Ram, B.A., Messrs. Macmillan and Co., 1922 Edition, Revised, 12 annas each.

or

Urdu History of India, Parts 1 and 2, by Professor Ishwari Prasad, M.A., LL.B. (Indian Press, Allahabad), 1923 Edition, Re. 1 each.

or

Hindi History of India, Parts 1 and 2, by Professor Ishwari Prasad, M.A., LL.B. (Indian Press, Allahabad), 1923 Edition, 14 annas each.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING GEOGRAPHY.

Geography is on the one hand a study of the configuration of the Earth—its continents, seas, mountains, forests, rivers, etc.; on the other hand it is a study of the needs of man and how he makes provision for these needs. Thus we only partly teach geography if we limit our teaching to a study of physical facts; the chief value of these facts is that they help us to understand how men live and work in different parts of the earth.

In studying a country consider it first as a whole—its general build, the long and short slopes of the land, the way in which rivers run, where there are large fertile tracts, where desert, and where forests. Then in more detail, the great mountain ranges, the chief river basins, the great plains, the climate, the population and occupations, the political divisions, the trade routes and towns. For each of these topics a separate map should be drawn on the blackboard and by the pupils.

The teaching should not be confined to a mere list of names. Facts are of value only if brought into relation with other facts. The teachers should point out why here there is a forest, there a desert, how the nature of the coast has promoted intercourse with other countries, how mountains have prevented intercourse, how rivers have promoted trade and density of population, what natural resources have given rise to particular industries, how the climate has influenced the life and work of the people. Facts are needed and must be learnt; but a fact is remembered with greater ease if it is understood, and facts are of use only if we can connect them with causes and results.

In giving facts to the class something more than a bare recital is needed. No subject makes greater demands on the descriptive powers of the teacher. He should endeavour to carry the pupils in imagination to the country he is describing; to do this he should, as far as possible, supplement vivid description by pictures, photographs, picture postcards, and, if suitable arrangements can be made, lantern slides.

Sketch map by pupils.—The pupils' note-book should contain a series of sketch maps for each country, each map illustrating a particular feature. Thus, one map should contain the mountain system, a second map the river system, a third the distribution of rainfall, and so on. Almost every topic discussed can be illustrated by a sketch map and benefits thereby. In order to draw these sketch maps it is not necessary for pupils to learn to draw the outline by heart, except perhaps in the case of India, whose outline is easily remembered. The teacher should supply blank outline maps (cyclostyled or printed), and these should be used to illustrate various topics. Many maps, each illustrating a single feature, are preferable to one elaborate map crowded with details.

Blackboard map by the teacher.—These should be built up as the lesson proceeds; each map should contain the elements essential to the lesson and no others. Coloured chalks are a valuable help; they make the various features stand out clearly from one another, and if the same colour be used consistently to represent the same feature, e.g., red for high land, blue for rivers, yellow for towns, etc., much time will be gained. Outline maps drawn on blackboard cloth are convenient as the basis for these maps; they may be procured from Messrs. G. Phillip and Sons, through Messrs. Longmans, Green and Co., Bombay.

Wall maps.—The school should in addition possess for each continent (1) a photographed relief map, and (2) a plain orographical map, preferably without names. It is important that the map chosen should contain only essentials.

The teacher should make his own maps to illustrate special points, e.g., vegetation, density of population, rainfall, etc.

Atlases.—Each pupil should possess an atlas. The atlas should be brought regularly to the geography class, and should be constantly referred to during the course of the lesson.

Books and apparatus.—The teachers should consult the "Guide to Geographical Books and Appliances" published for the Geographical Association by G. Phillip and Sons (Messrs. Longmans, Green and Co., Bombay.)

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN GEOGRAPHY.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

India.—Position, outline, nature of coasts, important harbours and neighbouring islands, the chief physical features, climate, production, provinces, chief Native States and chief towns.

The following maps should be drawn :—

(1) Outline map with main harbours and neighbouring islands.
(2) Outline map with chief mountains and rivers.
(3) Outline map with provinces and principal Native States.

(4) Outline map with chief towns.

(5) Complete map including all the above.

British Empire.—Position of the following :—British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, with very brief description of climate and nature of the country. As far as possible lessons should be illustrated by pictures.

The World.—Where arrangement can be made oral descriptive lessons should be given describing typical scenery, or life of man in various parts of the world. They should be illustrated by pictures, lantern slides, etc. In preparing these lessons, the teacher should consult the following books :—World Pictures, by J. B. Reynolds (Black), Man in Many Lands, by Lyde (Black), and the Peeps at Many Lands Series (Black).

Physical Geography.—Simple explanation of clouds and rain, the effect of mountains in producing rain, the monsoons, the formation of a delta.

CLASS VI.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

Asia.—Coast line great mountain ranges and tablelands, great plains, chief rivers, countries, neighbouring islands, chief towns, people, climate, products.

The World.—Where arrangements can be made oral descriptive lessons on the lines prescribed for class V (see above).

Physical Geography.—Surface of the earth, volcanoes and earth-quakes, the zones, latitude and longitude.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

Europe, America, Africa and Australia : to be treated in the same way as Asia in class VI.

Physical Geography.—The seasons, the solar system, waves, tides and currents.

TEXT-BOOKS.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

Geography.

Class V.—*Anglo-Vernacular School Geography, Book I, Part II (Urdu or Hindi), published by Longmans, Green and Co. (Urdu, Re. 0-10-0; Hindi, Re. 0-8-0).

Class VI.—*Anglo-Vernacular School Geography, Book I, Part III, published by Longmans, Green and Co. (Urdu, 12 annas; Hindi, 8 annas).

Classes VII and VIII.—†Anglo-Vernacular School Geography, Book II (Urdu or Hindi), published by Longmans, Green and Co. (Urdu, Rs. 3; Hindi, Rs. 2-4-0).

* This Geography, Book I, Parts I—III, is also available in one volume, Price, Urdu, Rs. 2-4-0; Hindi, Re. 1-4-0.

† This Geography is available in parts also :—

Book II, Part I (Urdu, Re. 1-2-0; Hindi, Re. 1).

,, Part II (Urdu, Re. 1-4-0; Hindi, Re. 1-2-0).

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN VERNACULAR (URDU OR HINDI).

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

The literary reader prescribed. Composition of letters in current idiomatic style, with the proper forms of courtesy.

Grammar.—Parts of speech and etymology of words.

CLASS VI.

The literary reader prescribed. Composition and Grammar as in class V.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

The literary reader and the Grammar prescribed. Original letter-writing.

TEXT-BOOKS.

CLASS V.

Urdu.—Ahsanul-Intikhab, by Muhammad Abdul Jalil, published by E. J. Lazarus and Co., Benares (prose—up to the end of the lesson "Dehat ki Zindgi," and poetry—up to the end of the ghazal by Asir), or Kumuk-i-Urdu, by Khan Sahib Muhammad Ismail, published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (prose—up to the end of the lesson "Safar Nama," and poetry—up to the end of the ghazal by Siraj-ud-din Bahadur Zafar).

Hindi.—Hindi Sahitya Kaumudi (up to the end of the lesson "Maharani Victoria"), by Ramji Lal Sharma (Hindi Press, Allahabad), 10 annas, or Hindi Sahitya-kunj, Part I, by Pandit Ramji Lal Sharma, Hindi Press, Allahabad, 10 annas each.

CLASS VI.

Urdu.—Ahsanul-Intikhab, by Muhammad Abdul Jalil, published by E. J. Lazarus and Co., Benares (prose—from the lesson "Maujuda Talim-o-Tarbiat ki Shabih" to the end of the prose portion, and poetry—from the qasida by Wasti to the end of the poetry portion), or Kumuk-i-Urdu, by Khan Sahib Muhammad Ismail, published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (prose—from the lesson "Hamdardi" to the end of the prose portion, and poetry—from the ghazal by Mirza Asad Ullah Khan Ghalib to the end of the poetry portion).

Hindi.—Hindi Sahitya Kaumudi (from the lesson "Niti Ratna Mala" to the end of the book), by Ramji Lal Sharma (Hindi Press, Allahabad), 10 annas, or Hindi Sahitya-kunj, Part 2, by Pandit Ramji Lal Sharma, Hindi Press, Allahabad, 10 annas each.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Urdu.—Safina-i-Urdu, by Khan Sahib Muhammad Ismail (Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow), or Shama-i-Urdu, Parts I and II, by Muhammad Aslam Saifie (Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow), 10 annas, or Shamim-i-Urdu, by Saiyid Muhammad Mahmud (Ram Prasad and Brothers, Agra, 1921), 10 annas.

Hindi.—Hindi Ratna Sangrah, by Sudarshanacharya (Griha Lakshmi Press, Allahabad), 10 annas.

READERS AND GRAMMARS.

Class VI.—Sanskrit Reader and Grammar, Part I, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad, 6 annas.

Class VII.—Sanskrit Reader and Grammar, Part II, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad, 6 annas 9 pies.

Class VIII.—Sanskrit Reader and Grammar, Part III, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad, 9 annas.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING DRAWING.

Method.—Teachers of drawing should bear in mind that it is far more important to train the eye and develop the suppleness of the hand than to produce mechanically accurate copies of drawings. They should therefore see that pencils of suitable length are used and kept properly pointed. They should forbid the shifting and turning of the paper in the process of drawing and insist on the adaptation of the hand to the lines required. They must accept responsibility for seeing that scholars do a satisfactory amount of work, and while on the one hand hasty and untidy work is to be checked, on the other hand anything of a laboriously minute and mechanical nature is to be avoided.

In model drawing the importance of rapidity as well as accuracy should be emphasized. The principles of perspective must be thoroughly explained and ample demonstration and personal correction must occupy each lesson. The surface on which the object stands should always be indicated, and the drawing should be made as large as the paper will allow.

It must be borne in mind that geometrical, perspective and model drawing—though related—are distinct exercises; while the former requires the application of geometrical knowledge, the latter fails in its object unless it strengthens the ability to draw simple objects freely, in good line and correct relationship of position.

As regards geometrical drawing, neatness, absolute accuracy and facility in using a few instruments are the ends to be kept in view.

All diagrams should be lettered and made of large size. Both ink and pencil should be used, alternately or in combination. Each problem must be carefully "taught" by the teacher and not merely copied by the boys on the larger scale from the text-book pages.

In free-hand and model drawing no mechanical aids should be allowed.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN DRAWING.

TEXT-BOOKS.

CLASS V.

As in Macmillan's Official Drawing Book, no. 5; or as in Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 5; or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 5.

N.B.—Teachers of limited experience in the teaching of drawing are recommended to use "Longmans' Complete Drawing Course' Part I," by I. H. Morris (Longmans, Green and Co.). Teachers of drawing in schools where Banbery's Scholar's Drawing Books are used are recommended to use "Teachers' Drawing Manual" in English, Urdu or Hindi, by H. Banbery (Indian Press, Allahabad).

CLASS VI.

Macmillan's Oriental School Drawing Book, Part I; or Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 6 or 7; or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 6.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Free-hand Drawing.—Macmillan's Oriental School Drawing Book, Parts II, III and VI (the designs in Part IV to be copied in outline only); or Nelson's Graduated Drawing Books, nos. 9 and 11.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN BRUSHWORK.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Brushwork of ordinary Indian flowers.

CLASS VI.

Further forms, insects, flowers, etc.

NOTE.—In brushwork the following are recommended for teachers' use :—

Longmans' Charts of Colour, Drawing and Design in three series by Cecil L. Burns, Principal, School of Art, Bombay, together with a Teachers' Hand-Book explaining the charts.

Elementary series.—Ten sheets containing alternate lessons in colour and geometrical drawing.

Intermediate series.—Ten coloured copies of leaf forms with a sheet of geometrical problems and exercises showing their connection with geometrical patterns.

Advanced series.—Ten large coloured free-hand copies of flowers, animals or other objects seen in nature, each accompanied by a design based upon a flower, illustrating the connection between nature and design.

SCIENCE.

There are two courses in Science : (1) a course in compulsory science for classes V to VIII, and (2) an optional course in Science for classes VII and VIII. The course in compulsory science is confined to schools which have the necessary staff and equipment. Details of the course are given in a memorandum which may be obtained on application from the Director of Public Instruction.

Books recommended for the course in compulsory science :—

For teachers.

(1) Familiar Indian Animals (Teachers' Handbook to "Animals of India"), by F. Finn (12 annas), with animal wall sheets, Macmillan and Co., Unmounted sheet, Rs. 2 each.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING THE OPTIONAL COURSE IN SCIENCE (CLASSES VII AND VIII).

In framing the courses for classes VII and VIII what has been kept in view is, on the one hand the limitations of poorly equipped schools in which there are few facilities for practical work, and, on the other hand, the ambition of the better equipped schools to commence laboratory work as early as possible.

The courses for classes VII and VIII may be worked through entirely in an ordinary class-room; but it is desirable that where facilities exist, even in these classes there should be some individual practical work by pupils. Where there are no facilities for practical work, as many as possible of the experiments should be performed by pupils at ordinary school desks, the remainder being done at the demonstration table by the teacher, assisted by pupils chosen from the class. In classes IX and X, in addition to class-work and demonstrations, all pupils should receive a regular course of practical instruction in the laboratory.

The subject-matter of the courses has been divided into different topics: "volume," "heat," "chemistry," etc., and each class advances its knowledge under each of these heads as far as possible; the main factors which determine the amount which can be attempted in any class are the knowledge of Mathematics possessed by the class, and the skill in experimental work which may be expected from it.

Although the subject has been thus divided into several topics, it does not follow that these should be taught as separate "subjects" in water-tight compartments. In teaching under any particular head the teacher should freely refer to what has been taught under other heads, when by so doing he can bring items of knowledge into close relation. In particular, it is undesirable and unnecessary to draw fine distinctions between Physics and Chemistry, and there is no need of separate laboratories for these two branches of Elementary Science.

The best laboratory for elementary work is the simplest, and any paraphernalia which tend to obscure the relation of cause and effect should be scrupulously avoided. The authorities do not recommend elaborate and expensive fittings; on the contrary, teachers are encouraged to utilize the simplest means by which the subject can be adequately studied.

While great importance should be attached to experimental work, it must not be forgotten that a principle is not thoroughly known unless it can be applied. The teacher should therefore invariably test the pupil's grasp of general principles, laws and formulae, by applying them, wherever possible, to the solution of examples involving calculation.

Thus each pupil in Science will have two note-books: one in which he enters a record of all experiments performed by him, and another in which he writes accounts of demonstration experiments performed by the teacher, and works numerical examples.

Diagrams of apparatus should be sectional elevations, not perspective drawings; these sectional sketches should be neatly and accurately drawn with the various parts approximately proportional in size.

Some uniform plan should be followed in entering the results of experiments; the "headings," "object of experiment," "apparatus used," "methods," "results" and "conclusion" are appropriate. Where possible, observations should be entered in tabular form.

Pupils should not rely on single determinations of quantitative results: whenever possible, several should be found and the average calculated. The standard of accuracy should be laid down for each experiment, and each pupil should obtain results within the standard or should repeat his experiment until he has obtained a satisfactory result. This standard must vary with the nature of the experiment and the apparatus available, and should be laid down by the teacher himself.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN SCIENCE.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Class VII.—Measurement of volume by the graduated cylinder and burette. Heat. Expansion of solids, liquids and gases. Construction of a thermometer. The Centigrade thermometer. Chemistry: Definitions; common properties of common substances; solution; crystallization; mixtures and compounds; physical and chemical change.

NOTE.—A course is given in the Appendix which indicates the minimum amount of practical work required to be performed by students and suggests methods of treatment of the syllabus for the guidance of teachers. It should be understood that teachers may substitute other experiments of equal educational value. Practical work should be co-ordinated with the theoretical work and follow it consecutively as far as possible.

The practical experiment should be performed individually as far as can be arranged.

Class VIII.—Weight; the principle of the balance; the physical balance.

Density of solids and liquids; relative density.

Principle of Archimedes.

Pressure: Force and Pressure; pressure of the air; the barometer.

Heat: Fahrenheit and centigrade thermometers; melting and boiling points, conduction, convection and radiation.

Books recommended for use of teachers :—

Exercises in Practical Physics, by Gregory and Simmons, Parts I and II (Macmillan and Co.).

Introductory Chemistry for Intermediate Schools, by Jones (Macmillan and Co.).

Physics and Chemistry for Middle Classes of Secondary Schools in India, in Urdu or Hindi (Macmillan and Co.).

APPENDIX.

Suggested treatment of the Science syllabus prescribed for Classes VII and VIII.

Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	List of experiments which should be done by the pupils.
	CLASS VII.
Volume	Measurement of volume by the graduated cylinder.	Use of graduated cylinder to find the the volume of large solids and the capacity of large vessels.
	The Burette	Use of burettes to find the volumes of small solids and the capacities of small bottles.
Heat	Expansion of solids, liquids and gases by heat. Construction of a thermometer. Explanation of centigrade thermometer.	Simple observations with the thermometer, e.g., to find the boiling points of water and other common liquids such as alcohol, etc.
Chemistry	Definitions and common properties	Examination of the common properties of common substances.
	Solution	To find out which of certain substances are soluble in water, e.g., lime, salt, marble; etc., in alcohol, e.g., wax, salt, etc.
	Crystallization	To prepare crystals (1) from solution, and (2) from molten sulphur.
	Water of crystallization	From crystals of blue and green vitriols, etc.
	Mechanical mixtures	To separate (1) sand and salt by filtration; (2) iron and sulphur by magnet; (3) charcoal and nitre by solution and filtration.
	Chemical compounds, physical and chemical change.	To heat salt, sugar, sand, etc., and mixtures of (1) charcoal and nitre, and (2) iron and sulphur. To examine the action of iron on a solution of copper sulphate.
	CLASS VIII.
Weight	Units in British system and Metric system. The principle of the balance. The physical balance.	Simple exercises in weighing, e.g., to find the number of gm. in 1 ounce.
Density	Definition	To find the density of solids, being given rectangular pieces.
	Calculation	To find the density of common liquids by means of burette.
Relative Density	Definition of relative density (or specific gravity). Principle of Archimedes Determination of relative density by Archimedes' Principle. Calculations.	Determination by Archimedes' Principle of the relative density of— (a) bodies which sink in water. (b) bodies which float in water.
Pressure	Definition of Pressure. Distinction between Force and Pressure. Pressure of the air and its measurement. The Barometer.	Barometer tube closed at one end, mercury, and porecelain or thick glass dish.
Heat	Comparison of centigrade and Fahrenheit thermometers. Calculations. Melting point of ice. Melting point of any solid. Boiling point of liquids. Conduction of heat. Comparison of Centigrade and Fahrenpowers of common solids. Conviction of heat. Radiation of heat.	Observations with thermometer, e.g. cooling curve for water. To find the melting point of paraffin wax or naphthalene. To find the boiling point of liquids.

N.B.—Facilities for practical work to be done in classes VII and VIII should be limited, or the time-table in Science restricted to only 3 periods of ¾ hour each per week.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN MANUAL TRAINING.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES V AND VI.

Paper Folding and Cardboard Modelling—

A series of Exercises and Models in Shaping and Folding including Letter Forming, Geometrical Patterns, Box and Frame Making, etc., in paper and Mill Board, together with necessary Drawings.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

1. Woodwork—

(a) A series of models, graduated in respect of the tool manipulations involved, to be made in wood from working drawings (drawn in plan, elevation and side-view) or from a given pattern in wood; the construction of the models to involve the use of one or more of the following tools:—

Jack Plane, Try Square, Marking Gouge, Marking Knife, Smoothing Plane, Tenon Saw, Bevel, Screw-driver, Firmer Chisel, Hammer, Mallet, Bradawl, Nail Punch, Compass, Firmer Gouge, Gimlet, Trying Plane.

The following joints should be included amongst the models:—

Half-lap, Housing.

(b) The care and maintenance in good working condition of the above-mentioned tools, omitting the sharpening and setting of the tenon saw.

2. Drawing—

Drawing in plan, elevation and side-view of all models in the course.

NOTE 1.—A scheme drawn up on the above lines is given in the Appendix. Teachers need not keep strictly to the particular models mentioned in the scheme, but if any changes in the models are made, these should not involve changes in the new tool manipulations employed.

NOTE 2.—"Manual Training for Secondary Schools in India," published by the Indian Press, Allahabad, is recommended for teachers' use in instructing classes in Manual Training.

Syllabus of the courses in Nature Study and Elementary Science.

(Vide memorandum issued under General letter no. G.-17/XVII—109, dated the 8th May, 1920).

Syllabus of the courses in Physical Training.

Physical Training not necessarily requiring the use of apparatus, the form being left to the discretion of the Headmaster.

Text-book (recommended).

"Physical Drill," by J. C. Kempster and G. R. Kaye (Macmillan and Co.).

NOTE.—Urdu and Hindi versions of the book have also been approved for use in schools.

A. C. MUKERJI, M.A., RAI BAHADUR,
Secretary, Board of High School and Intermediate Education,
United Provinces.

ALLAHABAD :
The 13th December, 1924.

Curriculum for the Middle Section of Anglo-Vernacular Schools for Girls who wish to read up to the High School Examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces, for 1925-26.

THE courses and text-books are the same as those prescribed in the curriculum for Anglo-Vernacular Schools for boys for 1925-26, subject to the following modifications :—

(1) In classes V and VI girls may read the following Vernacular Readers for girls in place of the Vernacular Readers prescribed for boys :—

Class V.

Urdu.—First half of Lower Middle Girls' Reader, by M. B. Hill, Indian Press, Allahabad, or Middle Girls' Reader, Part I, by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow.

Hindi.—First half of Lower Middle Girls' Reader, by M. B. Hill, Indian Press, Allahabad, or Middle Girls' Reader, Part I, by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow.

Class VI.

Urdu.—Second half of Lower Middle Girls' Reader, by M. B. Hill, Indian Press, Allahabad, or Middle Girls' Reader, Part II, by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow.

Hindi—Second half of Lower Middle Girls' Reader, by M. B. Hill, Indian Press, Allahabad, or Middle Girls' Reader, Part II, by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow.

(2) The course in Nature Study and Elementary Science does not apply to girls' schools.

But in girls' schools there may be an optional course in "Observation Lessons and Nature Study," in Classes V and VI; the course must be approved by the Inspectress of Girls' Schools.

(3) Sewing will be an additional compulsory subject in Class V.

(4) Domestic Science may be taken as one of the alternative subjects prescribed from Class VI onwards.

(5) Calisthenics may be taught in place of Physical Training.

The course in Sewing is as follows :—

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

Class V.

Tucking and pleating. To cut out and make up any two of the following :—

Pyjama, kurta, shaluka, jacket (blouse), shirt, skirt, man's coat.

Optional.—Chikan work, karchobi work, shadow work, waistcoat stitches, more advanced knitting.

The course in Domestic Science is as follows :—

Class VI.

(a) Physiology and Hygiene—

(i) Outlines of Physiology.—Bones, muscles, skin, lungs, heart, circulation of blood.

(ii) Hygiene.—Air, food, water, rest, exercise, clothing, cleanliness of person, malaria and mosquitoes.

(iii) Elementary instruction in the care of the sick.

(b) Sewing.—To cut out and make up any garment from the list given under Class V.

NOTE.—The optional work will be the same as in Class V.

(c) Cooking (optional).—The course should be drawn up by the headmistress for approval and should include dishes suitable for invalids.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

Classes VII and VIII.

(a) Physiology and Hygiene.—Simple first-aid; bleeding wounds; scalds; bites and stings; broken bones; dislocations; poisons.

Treatment of fits and other forms of unconsciousness.

Arrangements for reception of the wounded.

Preparation for doctor's visit.

Applications of triangular bandage as arm-sling.

Head bandage.
Jaw ,, Shoulder ,, Hand ,, Chest ,, Foot ,,

Practical instruction in methods—

(1) of cleaning house, furniture, china, glass, brass;
(2) of washing cotton, woollen and silk materials;
(3) of disposing of rubbish;
(4) of getting rid of flies and mosquitoes.

(b) Sewing.—Two garments selected by the Manager to be cut out and made.

Optional.—Chikan work, karchobi work, English embroidery, drawn thread work, crochet, knitting.

(c) Cooking (optional).—The course should be drawn up by the headmistress for approval.

TEXT-BOOKS.

Class VI.—Shahrah Tandurusti, Rai Sahib Gulab Singh and Sons, Lahore.

Classes VII and VIII.—Simple lessons in First-aid, by N. E. Collins, Ramna, East Bengal. Indian Manual of First-aid, G. Claridge and Co., Caxton House, Bombay (for bandages only).

Alternative curriculum for the Middle (and High) Section for girls in Anglo-Vernacular schools who do not wish to read for the High School Examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces, for 1925-26.

PREFATORY MEMORANDUM.

Head mistresses and managers of secondary English schools are permitted, with the approval of the Inspectress, and in conformity with the general principles that underlie the curriculum, to make modifications in the distribution of the work in any subject among the various classes from class V upward. Permission is also given, when the general approval of the Inspectress has been obtained, to re-group scholars in class V and upward for Arithmetic, Drawing, Classical Languages and Domestic Science independently of the recognized classification.

Nature study has been prescribed as an optional subject for classes V and VI, but the subject should not be introduced into any school without the permission of the Inspectress, who should satisfy herself that trained teachers are available and can be spared for teaching it. In no case should the work be entrusted to untrained teachers.

The teaching of English by the Direct Method should not be attempted except by specially trained teachers. Where such teachers are not available in sufficient numbers for all classes, a teacher or teachers, qualified to give such instruction, might be employed to supplement the ordinary class teaching by taking classes separately for an hour or so a week each.

MEMORANDUM ON HOME LESSONS.

(Issued under the authority of G. O. no. 790/XV—212, dated the 19*th August*, 1910, Educational department.)

From the frequent complaints received regarding the excessive amount of work set to scholars by teachers for preparation at home there is reason to believe that the proper relation between work done out of school by the scholar and work done in the class room is not always perfectly understood. Investigation has disclosed much divergence of opinion as to the amount of home lessons that may be reasonably exacted from the pupil in the different stages of her school career, the kind of work most suitable for preparation out of school hours, and the proper distribution of the time available for home preparation among the different subjects of study. Enquiries concerning the prevalent practice yield the conclusion that the matter is left too much to the discretion of individual teachers. Sometimes the pupil is expected to prepare for every lesson in school, and sometimes the work set is wholly unsuitable in both quantity and quality for study at home. The matter clearly does not receive the attention it deserves, and since the abuse of the system of home lessons may produce permanent injury, both physical and mental, it is necessary that steps should be taken to protect scholars from it. It is desirable, therefore, without prescribing any rigid uniformity of system, to lay down certain general principles for the guidance of teachers :—

(1) The fundamental principle on which home work rests is one which, it is to be feared, is too often forgotten, viz., that teaching and learning are two complementary processes, neither of which can be dispensed with or divorced from the other without detriment to educational progress. Activity on the part of the teacher must correspond to activity on the part of the learner. If either is absent, the process becomes onesided and the result barren. Accordingly the teacher who confines herself to the " delivery " of lessons in school, with which home work is not at all or imperfectly correlated, will be little less deserving of condemnation than the teacher at the opposite pole, who neglects her class teaching and endeavours to make up for it by setting long tasks to be done at home.

(2) Though axiomatic, it is too often forgotten that home work must be adapted, both in quantity and quality, to the capacity and the age of the scholar. Home work should not exceed the quality which a girl of average capacity can be expected to prepare without undue mental strain and without engrossing all her spare time. The clever girl will no doubt take rather less and the dull girl rather more than the approximate time for home preparation indicated below, for they have been estimated to suit the capacity of the scholar of average ability. The aim in setting home lessons should be that a girl should be able to prepare her tasks thoroughly, and yet have sufficient spare time to devote to healthy recreations, mental and physical, of her own choice :—

> In classes above the Upper Primary Section the approximate time to be devoted to home lessons should not exceed in the Lower Middle Section one and a half hours, in the Upper Middle Section two hours, and in the High Section from two to three hours.

(3) Home work should not be exacted from a scholar in too many subjects on the same day, nor too much in one subject. In this matter the head mistress must exercise controlling authority over the class teachers. She should enquire from them from time to time what amount of work is set in the various subjects, and should see that too much time has not to be given to the study of one subject at the expense of another.

(4) Home work is one of the most important means whereby the student can be trained in the habit of doing things for herself. It must be something which she can accomplish on the basis of what she has learnt in school, not something beyond her powers which necessitates recourse to the assistance of a private tutor. A girl who is always being helped in the preparation of her home work by a private tutor loses confidence in herself and the habit of doing things independently. Moreover, work which is the result of collaboration with a private tutor affords no criterion of the girl's capacity, progress or industry.

(5) Home work should be not only such as can be done without assistance, but such as implies effort. It should never be a merely mechanical exercise which involves no intellectual exertion. It should not, for example, consist of the transcription of "rough" work done in school. Under the influence of unsound tradition there has been, and still is, much waste of labour in this way. Such work is manual, not mental, and should be altogether unnecessary for girls who have been trained in habits of neatness and accuracy.

(6) In the lower stages it cannot be expected that girls should break much new ground for themselves. They should therefore be almost exclusively occupied in going over the ground already covered in class, and this work of assimilation should be tested by the teacher at the beginning of a fresh lesson. The work at home should take the form of recapitulating the work done in the day and of training the memory, which at this stage may be most usefully exercised. But since scholars cannot be expected to take much interest in what they find neglected by the teacher, written exercises should be punctually corrected and returned to them as soon as possible. It is most important that the work of this nature should never be allowed to fall into arrears. In the higher classes pupils will of course have to break ground for themselves, e.g., to solve "a deduction," to study the history or the literary text-book for the next day's lesson.

(7) There is a tendency to relegate too much written work to out-of-school hours. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the best means of training pupils to write clearly, to arrange their work neatly, and to take pains is to insist on these points in class note-books used in school under the eye of the master. There is plenty of time in school for written work of the nature of applying knowledge, if the teacher arranges her lessons properly. It may, in fact, be laid down as an almost invariable rule that no written work should be set as part of home lessons in the following subjects :—arithmetic, algebra, grammar, exercises, original composition, nor should work be set in copy-book writing, in drawing or in elaborate map making. In the higher classes, where a greater variety of subjects is taught, and consequently time has to be economized, sketch maps and geometrical constructions may have to be done at home.

The abatement of the evil of excessive or unsuitable home lessons is a matter of such urgency and importance that, now that their attention has been directed to it. it is hoped that managers of schools and head mistresses will lose no time in making a searching enquiry into the practice prevailing in their own schools and take measures along the lines indicated above to prevent abuses in future. The responsibility for seeking that the nature and amount of home lessons set throughout the school are suited to the capacities of scholars is an important part of a head mistress's duties and she should from time to time assure herself that the teachers are acting strictly in accordance with her instructions.

Alternative curriculum for the Middle (and High) Section for girls in Anglo-Vernacular schools who do not wish to read for the High School Examination of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces, for the session beginning in July, 1925.

Subjects of Study.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES V AND VI.

1. English.
2. Vernacular (Urdu or Hindi).
3. Arithmetic.
4. Geography.
5. Domestic Science (Simple Physiology and Hygiene and Sewing).
6. One or two of the following alternative subjects :—
    (i) History stories.
    (ii) Drawing.
    (iii) Brushwork.
    (iv) A classical language (Persian, Arabic or Sanskrit).
    (v) Second Vernacular.
    (vi) Nature Study.

NOTE.—No girl must take both Classical Language and Second Vernacular.

7. Cooking (optional).

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

1. Arithmetic.
2. History and Geography.
3. Domestic Science (Simple Physiology and Hygiene and Sewing).
4. Two or three of the following alternative subjects :—
    (i) English.
    (ii) Vernacular (Urdu or Hindi).
    (iii) A classical language (Persian, Arabic or Sanskrit).
    (iv) Drawing.
    (v) Algebra and Geometry.

NOTE.—Of the alternative subjects taken, one must be either English or Vernacular.

5. Cooking (optional).

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

1. Arithmetic.
2. History and Geography.
3. Domestic Science (Physiology and Hygiene).
4. Sewing.
5. Two or three of the following alternative subjects :—
    (i) English.
    (ii) Vernacular (Urdu or Hindi).

(iii) A classical language (Persian, Arabic or Sanskrit).
(iv) Drawing.
(v) Algebra and Geometry.

NOTE.—Of the alternative subjects taken, one must be either English or Vernacular.

6. Cooking (optional).

ENGLISH.

AIMS IN THE TEACHING OF ENGLISH.

The aims in the teaching of English are :—

A. Practical.—To enable the pupil—
  (1) to speak and read aloud English with correct pronunciation and some degree of facility ;
  (2) to understand the language when spoken ;
  (3) to write the language with grammatical correctness and with facility.

B. Literary.—To enable the pupil to read intelligently for pleasure modern English prose and poetry of moderate difficulty.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN ENGLISH.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Conversation and reading.—To carry on simple conversation in English ; to read with correct pronunciation from a reader ; to render into the Vernacular passages from the reader ; to use the words of the reader in simple sentences, and to answer in English questions based on the matter in the reader.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the reader ; dictation in ruled books of words and sentences previously read in the reader ; writing in copy-books.

Grammar.—To point out simple subject and predicate. Number and gender of nouns and pronouns, adverbs, prepositions and conjunctions (without sub-classification). Interjections. The definite and indefinite articles. The conjugation of the three simple tenses. The verbs "to have" and "to be." Oral and written exercises in the above.

Written composition.—Written composition (at least once a week), e.g., of simple sentences, using words and phrases from the reader. Written translation from the Vernacular of easy English sentences.

CLASS VI.

Conversation, reading and recitation.—To carry on simple conversation in English ; to read with correct pronunciation from a reader ; to render into the Vernacular passages from the reader ; to use the words of the reader in simple sentences, and to answer in English questions based on the matter in the reader. To recite from memory passages chosen from the reader.

Spelling and writing.—To spell the words of the reader ; dictation in ruled books of passages chosen from the reader ; writing in copy-books.

Grammar.—Revision of previous work in grammar. Analysis of simple sentences (subject, enlargement of subject, predicate, simple predicate, object, direct object, indirect object).

Verbs, number and person, transitive and intransitive, week and strong, conjugation of remaining tenses, active and passive voices. Oral and written exercises in the above.

Composition.—Written composition (at least once a week), e.g., using the words and phrases of the reader in simple sentences; reproduction of simple stories; written practice in answering easy questions on the subject-matter of the text. Written composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences and continuous prose. In connection with the above, incidental instruction in elementary points of arrangement, construction and punctuation.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Literary course (at least four periods a week).—To carry on conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation and expression; to render into the Vernacular passages from the prescribed text; to form sentences and to answer questions in English based on the vocabulary of the text; to recite from memory suitable passages of English poetry and prose (to be selected by the head mistress).

Supplementary reading.—At least one easy book per session (for suitable books see lists of books recommended for supplementary reading issued by the Department).

Dictation and writing.—Dictation (at least once a week) of unseen passages of the standard indicated by the prescribed text. Writing in copy-books.

Grammar.—Classification of nouns, pronouns, adjectives and adverbs, nouns in apposition. Verbs. Auxiliary verbs. Complements of verbs. Clause analysis of complex and compound sentences. Elementary instruction in direct and indirect speech.

Written composition (at least once a week), including simple free composition, e.g., letter-writing and description and composition from the Vernacular into English idiomatic sentences and continuous prose. Incidental instruction in arrangement, construction and punctuation.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Literary course.—To carry on conversation in English; to read with correct pronunciation and expression and to render into the Vernacular passages from the books read; to form sentences and to answer questions in English based on vocabulary of the text; to recite from memory suitable passages of English poetry and prose (to be selected by the head mistress).

Supplementary reading.—At least two easy books per session (for suitable books see lists of books recommended for supplementary reading issued by the Department).

Grammar.—Revision of previous work. Verbs, moods, gerunds and verbal nouns. Formal parsing. Further practice in analysis and in direct and indirect speech.

Dictation.—Dictation (at least once a week) of unseen passages of the standard indicated by the prescribed text.

TEXT-BOOKS.

In classes V to VIII the following readers are prescribed :—

Class.	Nelson's Readers.	Christian Literature Society's Readers.	Macmillan's Readers.	Tipping's Direct Method Books (Macmillan and Co.).	Longman's Readers.	The New Method Indian Readers (Gulab Singh and Sons).	Star of India Readers (Messrs. Blackie & Sons, Bombay).

(13) Simple School Unseens, by Professor A. C. Mukerji. (Macmillan & Co.)

MATHEMATICS.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF MATHEMATICS.

Reasons for Teaching Mathematics.—We teach Mathematics with a twofold aim. On the one hand we use the subject as a means of developing the intelligence of the pupil; on the other hand we endeavour to make her skilful in such operations with numbers as are likely to be of practical use. Thus the teacher will endeavour to make clear to pupils the reasons which underlie processes; and will also train them to gain the power of rapid, accurate and confident calculation.

Neatness and arrangement in written work.—Great stress should be laid on neatness and care in arrangement. Errors in working can often be traced to slovenly arrangement or badly formed figures. Pupils should be trained to arrange their work in a series of logical steps, for each of which a reason can be given. Particular care should be taken in the early stages that units are not omitted, and that every line is a correct statement.

Oral work.—All new processes should be introduced and fixed in the mind by means of examples worked on the blackboard. These should involve only small numbers, so that calculations may be performed without resort to pen and paper. Even after a new rule has been established "Mental Arithmetic" should be a feature of most lessons. A few minutes given daily to the oral solution of problems is a valuable means of revising past works and in training pupils to gain rapidity and confidence in calculation. In Geometry definitions must be first explained and understood and then learnt by heart.

Concrete illustrations.—Wherever possible, concrete aid should be used. In the earliest stages the various operations should be taught by means of illustrations with objects which can be easily procured, such as headless matches, nuts, etc. Tables of weights and measures should be visualized by measurements of lengths, areas, volumes, capacities and weights; pupils should be practised in estimating the weights of common objects, the heights of tables and rooms, the areas of surfaces, the capacity of vessels and the distances between fixed points in the class-room and play-ground; and should verify their estimates by experiments. At a later stage in the teaching of vulgar fractions and decimals the foot-rule graduated in inches and twelfths of an inch and in centimeters should be in constant use.

Nature of examples.—Once a rule has been learnt it should be applied to varied examples, both oral and written. Examples should, as far as possible, relate to matters within the experience of pupils, and the numbers employed should be such as are likely to occur in practice; thus although pupils should be made familiar with operations in British money, prices in problems should, as a rule, be given in Indian money. Operations with large numbers should be the exception, and when they are employed they should be taken from real life. In multiplicatio and division of decimals the methods adopted in the early stages should be such as can be employed in contracted work at a later stage; thus the methods given in Hall, Stevens and Sims' School Arithmetic for Indian schools are preferable to the older methods. To test the grasp of a new process and to connect it with what has been already learnt, it should be applied to problems which involve also the application of previous rules; thus no preceding rule should be allowed to drop out of sight.

Revision.—In no subject is revision more necessary than in mathematics. As the mental machinery of pupils becomes somewhat rusty from lying up for the vacation, such revision is especially necessary at the commencement of each session.

Text-book.—Even the best text-book cannot take the place of the teacher. She has to expand the theory, which is usually a brief summary; she has also to provide the concrete illustrations to break down the artificial barriers which separate topic from topic and to supplement the lists of examples by supplying oral questions and by inventing problems which are likely to bring the subject into close touch with interests of the pupils.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN MATHEMATICS.

ARITHMETIC.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

Revision of previous work. Tables of English money and problems involving its use. More advanced examples in unitary method. Vulgar fractions of concrete quantities. Simple interest.

CLASS VI.

Revision of previous work. Simple examples in square measure; simple examples in profit and loss solved by unitary method.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Revision of previous work. Compound interest. Ratio and simple proportion. Decimal notation and metric measures. Use of Algebraic symbols to express rules.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of decimal fractions, percentages. Compound proportion.

ALGEBRA AND GEOMETRY.

UPPER MIDDLE AND HIGH SECTIONS.

CLASSES VII TO X.

Algebra—Classes VII and VIII.—Symbolic expressions; substitutions; brackets; addition; subtraction; easy multiplication; easy division.

Classes IX and X.—Simple equations; simultaneous equations involving one or two unknown quantities.

Geometry—Classes VII to X—

Experimental.—Drawing and measurement of straight lines and angles: parallel straight lines; angles of a triangle; construction of triangles and parallelograms.

Practical.—As in the text-book prescribed.

TEXT-BOOKS.

The books recommended for use are :—

ARITHMETIC.

FOR CLASS VII AND UPWARDS.

(1) A School Arithmetic for Indian schools, by Hall, Stevens and Sims. (Macmillan & Co.)

(2) Longmans' Senior Arithmetic [Indian edition, by Dexter, Garlick and Pollard. (Longmans, Green & Co.)]

(3) A new Arithmetic for Indian schools, by Workman and Sims. (Gulab Singh & Sons.)

(4) Senior Modern Arithmetic (Indian Press, Allahabad.) Re. 1-8.

FOR CLASSES V AND VI.

Anglo-Vernacular School Arithmetic for classes V and VI with answers at the end of the book (Urdu or Hindi), published by the Newal Kishore Press, Lucknow (Urdu, 10 annas 3 pies; Hindi, 10 annas); or Modern Arithmetic, Book II (Urdu or Hindi), (Indian Press, Allahabad), 5 annas.*

ALGEBRA.

Baker and Bourne's Shorter Algebra (Bell & Sons); or Hall's School Algebra for Indian schools, Part I (Macmillan & Co.); Hall's Algebra for Middle Schools in India, 1918 edition (for use in the Middle Section), (Macmillan & Co.) or Elementary Algebra, Part I, by C. V. Durell and G. W. Palmer (Indian edition), 1921. (George Bell & Sons.) Rs. 2-12.

GEOMETRY.

Pierpoint's Elements of Geometry in Theory and Practice (the Indian Middle School edition), published by Longmans, Green & Co.

HISTORY.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING HISTORY.

Classes V and VI.—Whether the pupils have copies of the text-book or not is immaterial. If they have, the greatest care must be taken that the lesson does not develop into a reading lesson. Spontaneous narrative alone will secure the desired ends. As the story proceeds, the teacher should question the class to see whether they follow the course of events, and should encourage free communication of the feelings which the narrative produces in the minds of the pupils. The pupils may at intervals be required to write out a story, which they have heard, in their own words. No notes should be taken, for these will be memorised and reproduced. What is chiefly required of the teacher is a power of vivid narrative and of feeling the emotions which she strives to arouse. There should not be a written examination in these classes, but occasionally the head mistress or a senior teacher should test each class as a whole by an oral examination.

भारती [illegible]

Classes VII and VIII.—However simple the book may be, there is an ever-present danger that the pupils will derive incorrect ideas from it. The lessons therefore should be read in class in sections of suitable length, the teacher confining her explanation of the text to making the meaning clear. After the reading she hould, partly by narrative and partly by questions, build up a connected account f the events described. During this she should, as far as the means at her disposal llow, bring to the aid of the text pictures, sketch maps, time charts, reproductions f coins and other historical objects. The aim at this stage is to connect the main acts as a whole and to develop a sense of time and of cause and effect. She should ot fail to seize any chance of showing how one event was the natural outcome of thers. The treatment should be largely biographical. New ground should as a ule be broken with the help of the teacher; the pupils however should independently learn at home what has been previously taught in class. It will be found seful to set the class questions to answer in writing at fairly frequent intervals. his makes for clarity of ideas and expressions.

Classes IX and X.—The treatment does not differ radically from that in asses VII and VIII, but the pupils should usually read each day's lesson before is taken up in class. The teacher should emphasize the sequence of events. It often found effective at this stage to follow a topical order in preference to a ronological one, as this consolidates and systematizes the pupil's knowledge tter.

GEOGRAPHY.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING GEOGRAPHY.

Geography is on the one hand a study of the configuration of the earth— continents, seas, mountains, forests, rivers, etc.; on the other hand it is a study the needs of man and how he makes provision for these needs. Thus we only part teach geography if we limit our teaching to a study of physical facts; the ch value of these facts is that they help us to understand how men live and work different parts of the earth.

In studying a country consider it first as a whole—its general build; the lo and short slopes of the land; the way in which rivers run; where there are la fertile tracts; where deserts and where forests. Then in more detail the gr mountain ranges; the chief river basins; the great plains; the climate, the popu tion and occupations; the political divisions; the trade routes and towns. each of these topics a separate map should be drawn on the blackboard, and by pupils.

The teaching should not be confined to a mere list of names. Facts are value only if brought into relation with other facts. The teacher should point why here there is a forest, there is a desert; how the nature of the coast has moted intercourse with other countries; how mountains have prevented intercou how rivers have promoted trade and density of population; what natural resou have given rise to particular industries; how the climate has influenced the life work of the people. Facts are needed and must be learnt; but a fact is rememb with greater ease if it is understood, and facts are of use only if we can co them with causes and results.

In giving facts to the class something more than a bare recital is needed. subject makes greater demands on the descriptive powers of the teacher. She s endeavour to carry the pupils in imagination to the country she is describing; to do this she should, as far as possible, supplement vivid description by pictures, photographs, picture postcards, and, if suitable arrangements can be made, lantern slides.

Sketch maps by pupils.—The pupil's note-book should contain a series of sketch maps for each country, each map illustrating a particular feature. Thus one map should contain the mountain system, a second map the river system, a third the distribution of rainfall, and so on. Almost every topic discussed can be illustrated by a sketch map and benefits thereby. In order to draw these sketch maps it is not necessary for pupils to learn to draw the outline by heart, except perhaps in the case of India, whose outline is easily remembered. The teacher should supply blank outline maps (cyclostyled or printed), and these should be used to illustrate various topics. Many maps, each illustrating a single feature, are preferable to one elaborate map crowded with details.

Blackboard map by the teacher.—These should be built up as the lesson proceeds; each map should contain the elements essential to the lesson and no others. Coloured chalks are a valuable help; they make the various features stand out clearly from one another, and if the same colour be used consistently to represent the same features, e.g., red for high land, blue for rivers, yellow for towns, etc., much time will be gained. Outline maps drawn on blackboard cloth are convenient as the basis for these maps; they may be procured from Messrs. G. Phillip and Son, through Messrs. Longmans, Green and Co., Bombay.

Wall maps.—The school should in addition possess for each continent (1) a photographed relief map, and (2) a plain orographical map, preferably without names. It is important that the map chosen should contain only essentials.

In addition to these printed maps, the teacher should make her own maps to illustrate special points, e.g., vegetation, density of population, rainfall, etc.

Atlases.—Each pupil should possess an atlas. The atlas should be brought regularly to the geography class, and should be constantly referred to during the course of the lesson.

Books and apparatus.—The teachers should consult the "Guide to Geographical Books and Appliances," published for the Geographical Association by G. Phillip and Son (Messrs. Longmans, Green and Co., Bombay).

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN GEOGRAPHY.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

India.—Position, outline, nature of coast, important harbours and neighbouring islands, the chief physical features, climate, production, provinces, chief Native States, and chief towns.

The following maps should be drawn :—

(1) Outline map with main harbours and neighbouring islands.
(2) Ditto with chief mountains and rivers.
(3) Ditto with provinces and principal Native States.
(4) Ditto with chief towns.
(5) Complete map including all the above.

British Empire.—Position of the following.—British Isles, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, with a very brief description of climate and nature of the country. As far as possible, lessons should be illustrated by pictures.

The World.—Where arrangements can be made, oral descriptive lessons describing typical scenery on the life of man in various parts of the world. They should be illustrated by pictures, lantern slides, etc. In preparing these lessons the teachers should consult the following books:—World pictures by J. B. Reynolds (Black), Man in Many Lands by Lyde (Black), and the Peeps at Many Lands Series (Black).

Physical Geography.—Simple explanation of clouds and rain; the effect of mountains in producing rain; the monsoon; the formation of a delta.

CLASS VI.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

Asia.—Coast line, great mountain ranges and table-lands, great plains, chief rivers, countries, neighbouring islands, chief towns, people, climate, products.

The World.—Where arrangements can be made, oral descriptive lessons on the lines prescribed for class V (see above).

Physical Geography.—Surface of the earth, volcanoes and earthquakes, the zones, poles and equator.

UPPER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

General Geography.—Revision of previous work.

Europe, America and North Africa to be treated in the same way as Asia in Class VI.

Physical Geography.—Latitude and longitude. Simple explanation of changes of season, eclipses.

HIGH SECTION.

CLASSES IX AND X.

Geography of World in Outline. Winds, tides, currents.

VERNACULAR.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF VERNACULAR.

The aim of the study of the Vernacular is—

(1) to enable the pupils to understand and to appreciate Vernacular literature;

(2) to train them in clear and idiomatic expression.

Method of teaching.—The subject-matter of the lessons should from the first be made the basis of conversation in order that the pupils may grasp its meaning and take an intelligent interest in it. Difficult words and phrases should be explained with reference to their context and not by substituting synonyms, except in the cases where the latter are very familiar to the pupils. In reproducing a lesson the pupils should be trained to single out the salient facts or ideas, and should not merely give a running paraphrase of its entire contents.

The teaching of composition should begin with oral work in the lowest classes; by its means the children will learn to frame sentences, to use the new words and phrases learnt in their reading, and to give expression to their thoughts. When they have some mastery of writing and spelling, written composition should be given regularly; the subjects should be simple and familiar, and the main aim of the work should be to train the pupils in clear and straightforward expression. Later, more advanced subjects should be given and more attention should be paid to literary form; abstract subjects should be avoided, and in all cases the pupils should be thoroughly at home with the subject before attempting to write upon it.

Handwriting.—Slates should never be used either for copies or dictation in any of the classes. Reed pens must be used for copy-writing and transcription, and ordinary English pens should never be used for Vernacular script. Great care should be taken from the very beginning that the pupils should acquire the right method of holding and turning their pens. The position in writing must be regarded as of great importance; copy-books should be placed on a desk.

DRAWING AND BRUSHWORK.

AIMS AND METHOD IN TEACHING DRAWING.

Method.—Teachers of drawing should bear in mind that it is far more important to train the eye and develop the suppleness of the hand than to produce mechanically accurate copies of drawings. They should therefore see that pencils of suitable length are used and kept properly pointed. They should forbid the shifting and turning of the paper in the process of drawing and insist on the adaptation of the hand to the lines required. They must accept responsibility for seeing that scholars do a satisfactory amount of work, and while on the one hand hasty and untidy work is to be checked, on the other hand, anything of a laboriously minute and mechanical nature is to be avoided.

In model drawing the importance of rapidity as well as accuracy should be emphasized. The principles of perspective must be thoroughly explained and ample demonstration and personal correction must occupy each lesson. The surface on which the object stands should always be indicated, and the drawing should be made as large as the paper will allow.

It must be borne in mind that geometrical, perspective and model drawing—though related—are distinct exercises; while the former requires the application of geometrical knowledge, the latter fails in its object unless it strengthens the ability to draw simple objects freely, in good line, and correct relationship of position.

As regards geometrical drawing, neatness, absolute accuracy and facility in using a few instruments are the ends to be kept in view.

All diagrams should be lettered and made of large size. Both ink and pencil should be used, alternately or in combination. Each problem must be carefully "taught" by the teacher and not merely copied by the girls on the larger scale from the text-book pages.

In free-hand and model drawing no mechanical aids should be allowed.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN DRAWING.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASS V.

As in Macmillan's Official Drawing Book, no. 5, or as in Nelson's Graduated Drawing Book, no. 5, or as in Banbery's Scholars' Drawing Book, no. 5.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Hygiene.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF HYGIENE.

The aim in teaching hygiene is a practical one, i.e., to enable the girls to live healthy lives and to secure healthy conditions in their homes.

The formation of good habits while young is the only certain means of securing these ends, and teachers should use all means in their power to train children from the lowest class upwards in habits of cleanliness and order; the theoretical instruction that comes later should show them the reason for habits they have already formed and give principles for regulating their future lives.

In the lessons in home nursing and first-aid the pupils should be given regular practice in carrying out the instructions given in them, e.g., they should have practice in applying bandages, making beds for invalids, etc. They should not be brought into contact with actual illness, but for the purpose of practice one of the members of the class can act the part of the invalid.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN PHYSIOLOGY AND HYGIENE.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

CLASSES V AND VI.

Simple Physiology.—Hygiene of air, water, food, sleep, exercises. Hygiene of the person. Treatment of common accidents (burning, cuts, etc.) Precautions against common illness (fever and use of quinine, small-pox and vaccination, care of small children). Clothing, food, sleep, cleanliness.

CLASSES VII AND VIII.

Personal and Domestic Hygiene, by Mrs. Hendly, English, Urdu or Hindi edition. Published by Gulab Singh & Sons, Lahore.

COOKING.

CLASSES V TO X.

Courses to be proposed for the approval of the Inspectress of Girls' Schools.

SEWING.

AIMS AND METHOD IN THE TEACHING OF SEWING.

In teaching sewing the aim should be to train the pupil to do neat and careful work and to finish it well.

The younger children should be supplied with coarse soft material and with large needles; fine stitching should not be required from them, as it is injurious to their eyes.

In teaching cutting out garments should be selected such as will be worn by the pupils themselves, and whatever style is adopted they should study carefully the proper proportioning of the different parts of the garment made in order to ensure its comfort and durability. Opportunities should be made to train the pupil's taste in the choice of style, colour and material.

SYLLABUS OF THE COURSES IN SEWING.

LOWER MIDDLE SECTION.

(a) The passage or passages set for dictation in English should be dictated to batches of not more than 30 candidates simultaneously or successively as may be convenient, extreme care being taken to prevent any communication between the different batches until all candidates have been examined. The Superintendent should either dictate the passage or passages himself or should nominate a teacher or teachers with competent knowledge of English to do so under his instructions. The name of the person or persons so nominated with their designation and qualifications should be reported to the Secretary.

(b) Institutions sending up candidates to be examined in Type-writing at an institution other than their own will arrange to send at least one type-writer for every three candidates appearing in that subject. If there is not a sufficient number of type-writers for all these candidates including private candidates, if any the Superintendent of the Examination will divide the candidates into batches, examining each batch successively in the papers on type-writing test, but taking care that the candidates who finish their work do not mix with those who have yet to undergo examination in this subject. Thus all the batches ought to finish their answers within three hours, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the rate of one hour for each batch.

(c) Compasses or rulers must not be used in the examination in Free-hand Drawing.

(d) The use of paper patterns in the Paper on Sewing and Cutting-out (the Second Paper of Domestic Science) is not permissible.

(e) The use of compasses or any mechanical aids in Model Drawing is forbidden and any candidate found to have used them will render himself liable to disqualification.

(f) The use of stencils in answering question, papers in Science is not permissible.

N.B.—No guarantee is given to candidates regarding the order of the questions papers.

General Letter No. E.A./2379.

FROM

A. H. MACKENZIE, ESQ., M.A., B.Sc., M.L.C.,
DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, UNITED PROVINCES,

TO

ALL DRAWING AND CONTROLLING OFFICERS IN THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT, UNITED PROVINCES.

Dated Allahabad, the 31st January, 1925.

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to invite your attention to the Accountant-General, United Provinces' Circular no. T.M./69, dated the 22nd March, 1924, in connection with the formation, as an experimental measure, of departmental accounts offices for the Police and Education departments in these provinces. During the initial stage of the experiment it was considered advisable to continue the payment by treasuries of certain bills which are detailed in the list attached to the circular quoted above. The co-existence of both treasury and cheque payments has, however, been found to give rise to difficulties and these have resulted at times in delays in payment.

2. To avoid the dual system of payments and to ensure smooth working, it has now been decided, with the approval of the Government and with the concurrence of the Accountant-General, United Provinces, that with effect from the 1st March, 1925, in respect of salary and establishment bills, and 11th February, 1925, in respect of all other bills, charges which are shown in the circular quoted above as payable at the treasuries will also be paid by cheque. In other words, all bills without any exception whatever will henceforth be paid by cheque. The bills should be prepared as usual and sent to the Assistant Director of Public Instruction (Accounts), United Provinces, Allahabad, in a registered cover.

3. The following instructions should be carefully observed :—

(a) Salary bills of gazetted officers, bills of permanent establishment, house rent and other allowances and stipends to teachers.

Bills beginning from the pay of February payable in March, 1925, should be prepared and sent to the Accounts Section of my office on the 20th of the month to which they relate; for example, the bills for February should be sent on the 20th of that month to admit of cheques being issued in time for encashment on the first of the following month. If bills are sent late payment will be delayed and, therefore, officers and Heads of offices are particularly requested to transmit them on the 20th of the month or with the least possible delay thereafter. All salary bills of gazetted officers should be stamped with an anna stamp before submission to the Accounts Section for pre-audit. The salary bills of gazetted officers for February, 1925, payable on the 1st of March, 1925, should further be accompanied by a last-pay certificate granted by the treasury officer concerned.

After these bills have undergone check, cheques dated the 1st of the following month will be prepared and as far as possible sent to the payees on or before the 1st of that month. They should in no case be presented at the treasury for encashment earlier than the above date.

(b) Advances of pay on transfer and advances for journeys on tour.

Bills should be sent whenever necessary.

(c) Contract contingencies.

Bills should be prepared and submitted to the Accounts Section for issue of cheques, care being taken not to multiply the number of bills unnecessarily. Ordinarily two bills for a month should be drawn for payments from the 1st to the 10th and from the 11th to the end of the month respectively.

Separate bills should be drawn as usual for service postage stamps and sent to the Accounts Section of my office which will issue cheques for the bills in favour of the treasury officer concerned [vide article 98 (ii), Civil Account Code, volume I], but will forward the cheques to the officers who submitted the bills. The stock of service postage stamps should be examined frequently and bills made out when there is sufficient stock to meet 15 days' requirements, so that there may be no inconvenience pending receipt of the new supply.

4. Bills are not at present in many cases classified fully as required by Finance department's letter no. B-769/X—111, dated the 4th March, 1924. The attention of all drawing officers is invited to paragraph 7 of the Accountant-General's circular letter no. T.M./69, dated the 22nd March, 1924, and they are particularly requested to see that each bill bears prominently in red ink the major, minor and detailed heads of accounts before it is sent to the Accounts Section for audit and issue of cheques; want of this information leads to much waste of time on the part of the Accounts Office, and delays the issue of cheques.

5. The certificates and schedules mentioned below are in many cases not at present attached to the bills to which they relate. You are requested to see that these documents are invariably sent with the bills, when necessary :—

(1) Certificates of credit into the treasury of all fees, fines and other miscellaneous receipts, to be attached to the salary bills of Principals of Government Intermediate Colleges and of Headmasters of Government schools (vide Accountant-General's Standing Order no. 1);

(2) Orange coloured schedules in support of income-tax deductions;

(3) Government Provident Fund schedules.

6. The absentee statements of all establishments borne on the Provincial Cadre are at present sent, countersigned by the controlling officers, in the middle of the month following the month to which they relate, but under the new system of payment these statements will be required by the Accounts Office by the 20th of the month to which they relate to enable it to have the establishment bills checked and cheques issued in time. It has therefore been decided that the drawing officers, viz., Principals, Headmasters, Deputy Inspectors, etc., should attach to the bills absentee statements showing all the arrangements which are confined to their college, schools, etc. Only leave and arrangements sanctioned up to the date of preparation of the bill should be shown in the absentee statements; the number and date of the sanctioning order should be quoted. Subsequently drawing officers should furnish the Assistant Director of Public Instruction (Accounts) with a supplementary absentee statement showing the remaining arrangements, etc., for the month, sanctions for which may have been received by them after the submission of the bill. The controlling officers, however, should prepare only a consolidated absentee statement in respect of arrangements extending over different institutions and divisions, and submit it to the Accounts Office by the 10th of the next month at the latest. The attention of all drawing and controlling officers is specially invited to these instructions, as bills cannot be promptly checked without the absentee statements, and any delay in receipt of these statements would delay the issue of cheques.

7. Bills on account of provincial establishment should invariably be drawn in Treasury Form no. 254-B, in which pay, leave salary and officiating pay must be shown in the separate columns provided therein for the purpose. Sectional totals should be shown separately in red ink.

8. Claims—such as leave salary and officiating pay in respect of doubtful leave cases and consequential arrangements, increments not passed and countersigned by competent authority, etc., should not be entered in the monthly establishment bill, but should be drawn separately in supplementary bills as soon as the orders are clear.

9. Each drawing officer, who has to draw bills payable by cheque issued by the Accounts Office and who has not hitherto submitted copies of his specimen signature, is requested now to submit three copies of his specimen signature; otherwise the bills are liable to be returned.

10. As it is essential that all salary and establishment bills received from the 20th to the end of each month should be audited and cheques issued before the end of the month to which they relate, it is not possible to deal with other classes of bills (viz., contingent, travelling allowance, etc.), except urgent ones, from the 20th to the end of the month. Drawing officers should therefore see that bills other than salary and establishment ones are not ordinarily submitted after the 20th of the month.

11. As bills will have to be prepared before the 20th of the month, they should be complete in all respects up to the date of preparation. The drawing officers should give effect in the bills of the following month to such re-adjustments of the allowances drawn for the period of the month after the submission of the bills as may be necessitated by the actual events during that period.

12. Care and neatness and the due observance of all formalities in the preparation of bills will expedite work in the Accounts Office and thus help to ensure prompt payment.

A. H. MACKENZIE, M.A., B.Sc.,
Director of Public Instruction, United Provinces.

The following Press Communiqué is published for general information :—

A meeting of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces, was held at Allahabad on the 7th February, 1925, at 11 a.m., with the Director of Public Instruction (Mr. A. H. Mackenzie) in the Chair.

Draft courses for the examinations of 1928 were drawn up.

The Board decided to hold a Supplementary examination in Further Mathematics in 1926 for failed candidates of the High School Examination of 1925.

The Board resolved to add to the regulations a clause ensuring that Science candidates admitted to the High School Examination will have actually performed the experiments prescribed in the syllabus.

The Board approved of the suggestion made by the Committee of Courses in Biology that a conference of teachers of Biology in recognised Intermediate Colleges should be held, on the condition that the Board is not required to meet any part of the expenditure.

The following new institutions were recognised :—

Pareek Pathshala, Birla Vidyalaya, Pilani, Chandpol School, and Chirawa Vidyalaya (all in Jaipur State) and Muslim Girls' School, Lucknow, as High Schools, and

Boys' High School, Allahabad, as an Intermediate College.

The Bareilly College was recognised for the Commercial Diploma Examination.

The Board fixed Tuesday, the 2nd March, 1926, as the date for the commencement of the examinations of 1926.

The Board decided that failed candidates intending to appear as Private Candidates at the Intermediate Examination with Science as an optional subject may be permitted to work privately in any college laboratory.

The following examinations were recognised as equivalent to the High School Examination of the Board :—

(1) The Anglo-Vernacular High School and the English High School Examinations of Burma.

(2) The London University Matriculation Examination.

The Board appointed Head Examiners and Boards of Moderators for the examinations of 1926.

The Board finally passed the draft Regulations, published in part IV of the United Provinces Government Gazette of the 13th December, 1924, except the amendment to Regulation 5, Chapter V of the Board's Regulations, consideration of which was postponed.

The Board resolved that Surveying be not approved as an optional subject for the Intermediate examination.

A. C. MUKERJI, M.A., RAI BAHADUR,
Secretary, Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces.

Curriculum for Vernacular Schools for Boys, United Provinces, for 1925-26.

The following points regarding the curriculum should be carefully noted :—

ARITHMETIC.

CLASS IV.

Simple lessons in account-keeping (roznamcha and khata) should be introduced wherever the teacher is capable of giving such instruction.

Object lessons.

In no case is the course to be introduced in a school unless the inspecting officer is satisfied that there is a teacher on the staff who is competent to teach it. Where no such teacher is available, object lessons should be given according to existing practice.

Books recommended for teachers' use :—

Prakriti Niriksban (Nature study books), Parts 1 to 3 by the late Babu Manik Chand Gupta. Babu Har Charan Das Bhargava, Manager, Bhargava School Book Dépôt, Aminabad Park, Lucknow. (Re. 1.)

Prakriti Niriksban ki Shiksha Deepika, by Babu Deb Narayan Mukerji, Professor, Training College, Allahabad. Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (Re. 1.)

Risala Mutala Qudrat for teachers, by Deb Narayan Mukerji, Lecturer, Training College, Allahabad. Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (Re. 1.)

Hygiene and Temperance Teaching.

Informal talks in class on hygiene and on the evils, both physical and moral, resulting from intemperance should be held by teachers in the middle classes at intervals during the session. Head teachers should see that the subjects are not neglected and that the teaching is not merely perfunctory.

Books recommended for the use of teachers are—

Usul-i-Talim-o-Intizam-i-Madrasa for use of teachers of Vernacular Primary schools, by Babu Deb Narayan Mukerji and Pandit Durga Prasad Mushran, Allahabad, 1923 edition. Indian Trading Co., Chauk, Allahabad. (10 annas.)

HYGIENE.

Articles on Health by Major Megaw, I.M.S. (in the War Journal), Aiza-o-Sehat-i-Insani in Urdu or Manushi Anga tatha Swastha in Hindi, by K. C. Bhattacharya, published by the Indian Press, Allahabad (12 annas each), or Hifzan-i-Sehat, parts 1 and 2 in one volume in Urdu, by Munshi Rahmat Elahi Siddiqi, Sub-Assistant Surgeon (corrected edition), published by the Nowal Kishore Press, Lucknow. (Rs. 2.)

or

Tandurusti ki Pahli Kitab, by Colonel J. W. D. Megaw, Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (12 annas.)

or

Swastha Raksha ke Prathmic Niyama (the Hindi version of Colonel J. W. D. Megaw's First Laws of Health), Oxford University Press, Calcutta. (12 annas.)

or

Sehat ki Kahani, by E. Marsden, B.A., translated into Urdu by Munshi Abid Hasan Faridi, published by Macmillan and Co. (Re. 1.)

or

Hindi translation of the Land of Health and the Land of Wealth, by Pandit Ram Narain Misra, published by Macmillan and Co. (Re. 1.)

TEMPERANCE.

Manual of Temperance (Urdu or Hindi), by Munshi Mewa Ram, B.A., late Inspector of Schools, Jhansi division. (6 annas each.)

Jiwan Path Pradip (moral instructions to the young) compiled by Pandit Ganga Datt Pande, Headmaster, Deo Nagri High School, Meerut.

Agriculture.

1. A vernacular middle school will be allowed to send up boys for the Vernacular Final Examination in Agriculture only if it has been specially recognized in the subject by the Director of Public Instruction. All boys reading in such vernacular middle schools will be required in the third and subsequent years in which the school is recognized in Agriculture to offer Agriculture in the Vernacular Final Examination. Boys may also offer the second form of vernacular as an additional optional subject.

2. A vernacular middle school recognized in Agriculture will cease to teach any optional subject, except Agriculture and the second form of vernacular, in class V in the first year, in class VI in the second year, and in class VII in the third year of recognition in Agriculture. Boys reading in class VI or class VII of the school will, however, be allowed to appear in the Vernacular Final Examination in the optional subjects English and Drawing at the end of the first and second school year.

APPENDIX III.

Scheme of Object Lessons.

Instructions to Teachers.

OBJECT LESSONS.

Aims.—The chief aims of these lessons are to train children to observe accurately and to quicken their interest in the world around them. In the preparatory stage these are the sole aims. In the higher classes the lessons will further be used to train children to reflect on the results of their observations and to reason about things; they will compare and contrast things. The lessons may be used for other purposes; they may add to the children's intelligent knowledge of common things, and be made the basis of instruction in language and drawing. While it is of importance to keep these additional aims in mind, we must regard them as of secondary importance; if we endeavour to impart to children information however useful it may be, without making them handle and examine things for themselves, we shall fail to make our teaching the means of developing habits of observation, and the information imparted will be superficial and inaccurate.

Choice of objects.—Familiar objects, chosen from the locality in which the school lies are recommended. These are better than unfamiliar objects as a means of training children to use their eyes; we shall make them observant if we get them to see what they have failed to notice in obvious things. Thus, the majority of children regard all leaves as having the same shape and structure, until their attention is drawn in an observation lesson to differences. Further, objects which can be so easily procured that all children may bring a specimen to the class and examine it, will give more interest to the lessons than objects which can be shown from the teacher's desk or by picture. A lesson on milk would therefore be a much wiser choice than a lesson on sodium, and a lesson on a parrot than one on a rhinoceros.

The objects should be chosen with reference to the season of the year and to the age of the pupils. Thus, lessons in which flowers are being examined should be taken in the months of March and April, when the children will have opportunities of examining many varieties; and while a lesson on germination would be suitable for Class IV, it would be too difficult for Class II.

In order to give opportunities for comparison, the objects chosen should have some connection with each other. In the lowest classes they will be linked together by dealing with similar groups of object (e.g. common crops), between which the pupils may note comparison and contrast. In the higher classes there should be more continuity of subject; the series of lessons should give the children opportunities to make deductions, and should lead them to the statement of simple general truths such as "animal life is dependent on plant life." By association in this way the lessons will gain greatly in interest, and will admit of gradual progress in difficulty along particular lines.

The actual objects should, wherever possible, be obtained. Nearly all the lessons in the following lists can be illustrated by objects which the children can bring to school. If the teacher encourages his pupils to exert themselves in this way, he will help greatly to make his lessons a success. Pictures are a poor substitute for the real object and should be used in the place of objects only when lessons are given on certain animals which cannot be shown in the school, e.g., camel, elephant, but which may form the subject of a lesson if children are familiar with them.

It is not necessary to have many objects in a course. The teachers should not attempt to give lessons in all the objects mentioned in the following list; he should make a selection. Habits of observation are better cultivated by examining a few objects thoroughly than by cursorily looking at many.

Method of teaching.—The first necessity in an object lesson is an object to observe. It would not be necessary to say this, were it not a fact that many teachers are content with a picture, a model, or even a description from a book. A picture or model will help to make a description more vivid, but cannot take the place of the object itself.

The teacher should first find out from the class all they knew about the object. He should then lead them to examine it more closely and notice things which formerly they had failed to observe. Finally, he should lead them to see how the object is adapted by its structure to its uses, ways of living, or mode of growth.

The most common fault of these lessons is that the children do nothing but listen. The teacher should guard against the temptation of imparting much information in one lesson, for children become tired and bewildered by many facts and descriptions. The information should only be such as the object itself gives; any further information may, if necessary, be given in other lessons. Thus a lesson on stamps may be an object lesson, but an account of the way in which letters are conveyed from one place to another should be left to the reading or composition lesson; while the growth of particular plants may be studied in the observation lesson; the distribution of crops in a particular part of the country should be taught in the geography lesson.

"One thing at a time" is a good rule. But while it is not desirable in one lesson to deal with several kinds of objects, there should always be several specimens of an object in the class and, if possible, each pupil should have a specimen before him.

Questions should be put at the beginning of a lesson to find out what the children already know about the object. In the course of the lesson questions should be put in order to stimulate the children to think and to look at things for themselves. At suitable stages or at the end of the lesson the teacher should question the class to find out what they have grasped. He should also at the end of suitable stages encourage the class to ask him questions.

The teacher's language should be simple and his own (i.e., not quoted from a text-book), and if he uses technical terms these should only be such as the boys are likely to use subsequently. The value of the lessons as a means of training pupils in the correct use of language in speaking and writing should not be overlooked. The pupils should therefore be encouraged to express the results of their observations by accurate description in speaking or writing and while the teacher should not make his lesson one on grammar or composition, he should not allow careless expressions to pass uncorrected. In the preparatory classes the lessons should take the form of conversations between teacher and pupils. In Classes I and II the children should be asked to write the name of the object and, where possible, to make drawing. In Classes III and IV simple records should be made, and children should invariably be asked to make simple drawings. The records may at first be copies of the teacher's summaries on the blackboard, but these should be replaced as soon as possible by simple descriptions written by the pupils in their own words.

More and more will be expected of pupils as they grow older. In the preparatory stage the sole aim of the lessons will be to awaken in children an interest in the things around them; the lessons must be short and bright, and questions will be put solely to make children examine things. In Classes I and II the objects chosen will be more difficult of analysis and will require more careful examination than those of the preparatory classes; pupils will be led to compare and contrast things, and will be questioned to make them think why the properties and structure of the objects are specially adapted to its uses, ways of living or mode of growth. In Classes III and IV there will be greater demand than in previous classes on the reasoning powers; things will be classified, deductions will be made, general truth will be arrived at, and a training will be given in exact measurement.

Diagrams and drawings by the teacher on the blackboard are valuable as a means of giving interest to a lesson; but these should follow, not precede, the children's observations; the blackboard sketches should not be elaborate drawings. The fewer lines in them the better; each drawing should bring out only one or two points, for any elaboration will only distract the class.

When experiments are performed, information should not be given as to what may be expected to happen; when the experiment has been carried out, the children should be questioned and led to reason out for themselves what it teaches.

For successful teaching, the teacher's interest is the first essential. If instead of depending solely on books, he works at the objects himself saying: "How can I kindle the interest of children in these? How can I awaken their curiosity and stimulate them to observe and inquire?" his teaching will be successful.

Scheme of Object Lessons.

Teachers should select their lessons from the following lists. They should choose from lists objects which are found in the district in which the school is situated, and are best suited to the ages of the children.

Preparatory Classes A and B.

Common things.—Simple forms: sphere, cube, cylinder—illustrated by balls, pieces of sugarcane, pencils, pichkari (syringe), bansri (flute), bricks. Colours: the children should be taught to distinguish the colours—white, black, red, green, yellow, and blue. The following should be used as illustrations: Flowers, coloured paper, cloth, wood, beads, and churies (bangles).

Common animals and birds.—Cow, goat, sheep, cat, dog, parrot, pigeon, titar.

Common fruits.—Guava, mango, orange, tamarind, ber.

Common articles of food.—Milk, water, bread, dal (lentil), ghee (clarified butter), dahi (curds).

Class I.

Common things.—Takhti, slate, knife, khurpa (hoe), pharua (spade), khapra (tile), ghara (pitcher).

Common animals and birds.—Buffalo, horse, ass, camel, sparrow, maina

Common crops.—Wheat, barley, gram, maize, rice, bajra, peas.

Common vegetables—Sag (spinach), bhindi (lady's finger), gajar (carrot), muli (radish), potato, kohra (pumpkin).

Class II.

Common things—Stamps, metals (iron, brass, copper), coins, clay, sand, sulphur, saw, chheni (chisel), barmi (borer), hal (plough), harrow, kolhu (sugar mill).

Common animals.—Elephant, monkey, fish, snake, squirrel, rabbit, frog (to be selected only if they are frequently seen in the locality, and if suitable pictures are available), peacock, crow, blue-jay.

Common trees and plants.—Mango, pipal, nim, tamarind, bamboo, cotton, castor plant.

Class III.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
1	Classification of objects.	Living and non-living objects. Natural and artificial objects.	July.
2	Plants and their parts.	Examination of the number of the common flowering plants of the neighbourhood with reference to their flowers, leaves, stems, roots, fruits, and seeds, and also to the following :— (a) Flowers yield seeds and fade away. (b) The stem holds the leaves up to the sunlight and supports the flowers. (c) The root fixes the plant in the soil.	July and August.
3	Flowers ...	Examination of some of the common flowers of the season with reference to the following Parts :—petals, sepals, and stamens. The following are examples which may be studied :— Khira (cucumber), bhindi (lady's finger), lauki (gourd), jasmine, rose, dhatura, gul hazara.	August and September.
4	Fruits ...	Examination of some of the common fruits, of the season with reference to differences in colour, smell, taste, shape, and size, and also to the fact that fruits contain seeds. The following fruits may be examined :— Custard-apple (sharifa), lemon, orange, cucumber.	September and October.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
5	Leaves and their classification.	Classification of leaves of different plants; leaves to be brought by pupils:— (a) By shape— (i) long and narrow, e.g., grasses, specially the following:— Kans, makka, sarkanda, wheat, rice, barley. (ii) needle shaped, e.g., chir. (iii) oval-shaped, e.g., tidhara bargad. (b) By structure— (i) simple (one-blade, e.g., mango, pipal, bargad, mulberry, kela). (ii) compound (blades divided into separate leaflets, e.g., arhar, gram, nim, shisham). (c) By margin— (i) leaves with entire margins, e.g., mango, bargad, mahua, gular, bamboo, jack-fruit. (ii) leaves with toothed margins, e.g., mulberry, castor, rose. (d) By veining— (i) net-veined leaves, e.g., pipal, bargad, gourd, melon. (ii) parallel-veined leaves, e.g., sugarcane, bamboo, haldi.	November and December.
6	Flowers ...	Examination (resumed) of some of the common flowers of the winter season with reference to their petals, sepals, and stamens. The following may be studied:—Cotton, poppy, bhanta, mustard, dhaniya, peas.	January.
7	Trees ...	Identification of some of the common trees of the neighbourhood by their leaves, of which drawings should be made by the pupils. The following are examples which may be studied:—Shisham, nim, mahua, sal, mango, pipal, bargad, katahal, mulberry, bamboo, toddy-palm, date-palm.	January and February.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
8	Fruits ...	Examination of some of the common fruits of the winter season, as in September and October. The following are examples which may be examined:—Guava, plum, kamrak, anar, anjir.	February.
9	Observation lessons.	Observation lessons on the following:—Cotton, jute, tobacco, wool, paper, and pencil.	March and April.

Class IV.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught
1	Needs of a plant.	Plants require (1) sunlight, (2) air, (3) water. Plants are living things.	July.
2	Flowers ...	Examination of some of the common flowers of the season with reference to their carpels, sepal, petals, and stamens. The following are examples which may be examined:— Rose and jasmine—to show petals. Rose and dhatura—to show sepals. Dhatura and bhindi—to show carpels.	August.
3	Examination and classification of plants used for food.	A simple classification of plants used as food by men or animals and an examination and comparison of these. The following are examples:— (a) Seeds used as food—arhar, urd, pea, gram, mung, bean. (b) Fruits used as food—orange, lemon, peas, guava, mango, banana. (c) Roots used as food—turnip, carrot, radish, sweet potato. (d) Stems used as food—sugarcane, ganthgobi. (e) Leaves used as food—cabbage, chana sag, methi, sarson, marsa, palak.	September and October.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
4	Mensuration	Yard measure	November.
		Examination of a yard measure and its divisions. How to measure to the nearest inch. Class to guess length to nearest yard, e.g., lengths of class room, height of door, etc. These to be verified by measurements made by the class. Class also to guess lengths to the nearest foot of smaller objects, e.g., width of table, etc., and the measurements to be verified by experiments.
		Foot-rule.
		Examination of a foot-rule (divided into eighths and tenths of an inch). To copy part of the rule and its divisions. How to measure to the nearest eighth or tenth of an inch.	December.
		Measurement of straight lines.
		The blocks of wood of rectangular shape, rectangular pieces of cardboard, tin, etc. for measurement. Measure lengths of sides in inches and eighths of an inch and also in tenths of an inch, expressing the latter in the decimal notation.	January.
5	Flowers ...	Examination (resumed) of some of the common flowers of the winter season with reference to their nectaries as well as petals, sepals, stamens, and carpels (previously done). The following are examples which may be studied :— Mango, mustard, and dhanya—to show nectaries. Mustard and cotton—to show carpels. Mustard, peas, beans, and cotton—to show stamens. Poppy and rose—to show sepals. Cotton and gourd—to show petals.	February.
6	Observation lessons.	Observation lessons on the following :— Wood, tobacco, and the common vegetable oils, e.g., mustard, linseed, cocoanut, and sesamum.	March and April.

Class V.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
1	Seeds ...	Soak beans in water for a few hours and take off the skins. Note the white tip (future root) separate the fleshy parts; note the white stem lying between them.	July.
2	Germination	To grow and examine seed, e.g., beans, wheat, mustard, peas, onion, etc., and to make sketches showing the stages in growth of the seeds and also to examine the seedlings by pulling up a few at intervals of about two days.	July and August.
3	Chief things needed for germination.	(a) Supply of moisture. (b) Air. (c) A certain degree of warmth.
		Experiments for (a) and (b).
		(1) Fill a bottle with dry seeds, put some elastic bands about it and place it under water; after a few days the bottle will be burst by the swelling seeds.	August and September.
		(2) Place some dry seeds in dry sawdust and others in moist sawdust (an inch below the surface); compare the results after a week or two.
		(3) Take three small wide-mouthed bottles, two of which have good corks. Call these I, II, III.
		Dry I, place in it some seeds (mustard, wheat, barley), cork, and seal with sealing wax.
		In II put two or three layers of blotting paper (wet) at the bottom; then put in seeds and cork, and seal as before.
		Treat III like II, but leave the bottle uncorked. Put the bottles side by side and examine daily.
		In I they do not germinate, no water and little air.
		In II they grow for a little while but then die.
		In III they grow well if the paper is kept moist.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
		Experiment for (c). Take two small flower pots and fill them with moist sawdust or sand. Sow some barley or wheat seed in each. Place one pot in another earthen vessel in which water is kept for cooling, taking care that the water does not reach the pot containing the seeds. Keep the other pot near the first but without cold water round it. Note that the seeds germinate quicker in the second pot than in the first. The germination is delayed with decrease of warmth and stops if there is no warmth at all (cf. how "doob" grass grows in the rainy season with moisture and warmth; when the latter is withdrawn in the cold season, little growth, if any, is made till February, when "warming up" begins again).	August and September.
4	Roots attracted by water.	Fill a shallow box, having a bottom of coarse muslin, with a layer of sawdust. Plant mustard seeds. Tilt the box by a block of wood under one end. Keep the sawdust watered. Note that the roots pass out at the bottom but afterwards turn towards the moist sawdust. The same experiment may be tried with wheat and gourd.	October.
5	Mensuration	Measurement of curved lines:— Supply pupils with bamboo cylinders (made by cutting a long piece of bamboo into portions 2″ or 3″ long). Determine the circumference thus:—Wrap a piece of thin paper round the cylinders; stick a pin through the overlapping of parts of the paper and measure the distance between the pin-pricks; or wrap thread round the cylinder four or five times and measure the length of the thread dividing the length so obtained by the number of times it has been wrapped round. Measure the perimeters of coins or other circular pieces of metal by making a mark on the rim and rolling the coin along the rule.	October and November.

Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
		Outside measurements :— Use a tape measure which may be made by the teacher, each boy being provided with a piece of string cut to length of the definite number of yards (e.g., four yards; then the string folded in half equal two yards and folded again half equal one yard). Distance to be measured and then stepped. Boys to find the length of an average step. Measurement of the dimensions of the school room or school garden. Exercises in estimating distances, and stepping to verify the guesses. Plans of compound to be made (the measurements being made by the use of the strings and foot-rule).	November and December.
6	Flowers ...	Examination of some of the common flowers of the season with reference to their various parts (revision). Functions of the different parts of a flower. Polination and seed-productions, the primary function of the flower . The relationship between insects and flowers; note only certain kinds of insects visit flowers : why insects come to flowers ; advantage to flowers of insect visits.	January and February.
7	Fruits and seeds.	Dispersal of fruits and seeds ; its reason. Seal dispersal and advantage because it prevents overcrowding.
		Dispersing agents. How dispersed :— (a) Wind— Seeds or fruits that are carried by the wind— (1) Parachute fruits, e.g., thistle-down, kans, parwal, sarkanda. (2) Winged seeds, e.g., kaner. (3) Parachute seeds, e.g., cotton, simal, madar.	March and April.

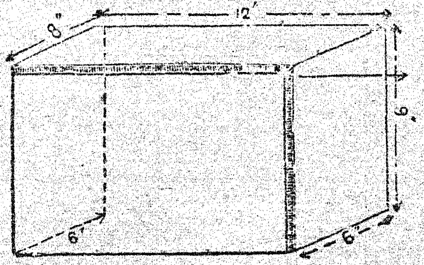
Serial no.	Subject.	Detailed syllabus.	Month of the year in which the subject is to be taught.
		(b) Animals— (1) Seeds enclosed in succulent fruits which are eaten by birds or animals; the seeds are ejected, sometimes at long distances away, e.g., anar, peas, guava, jamun, gular, anjir. (2) Seeds and fruits dispersed by attachment to animals:— (i) Fruits with hooks, e.g., latzira, gukru, spear-moss, kutta grass. (ii) sticky seeds, e.g., cordia latifolia. (c) Explosive or ejective mechanism in the fruit itself. Seeds liberated by the bursting of fruits, e.g., arhar, castor, gulmendi, oxalis. (d) Water especially in the case of aquatic plants and also those which grow on the margins of streams.

Equipment for object lessons.

It is suggested that schools in which object lessons are attempted should be supplied with flower pots, if possible one between every two children, and a sufficient quantity of sawdust so as to enable scholars to see root-development. Provided that money be available, it would still be better to supply the schools with germinating boxes made as in the sketch below:—



iron ribbon nailed to keep sides straight.

These boxes are made open at the top with a pane of glass in front fitting into a grove and sloping inwards. By this means the development of roots is seen and can be measured; the difference in the branching of roots in the main group illustrated by any grass (barley, wheat, maize, rice, oats, etc., and plants such as beans, peas, gourds, etc.) can be made out. These boxes are a never-failing source of interest and a valuable adjunct in teaching.

APPENDIX IV.

Scheme of studies in Agriculture.

(For schools recognised in the subject.)

NOTE.—(1) Boys will maintain regular, careful and neat diaries of their observation and practical work.

(2) The maintenance of proper and accurate farm accounts is essential. All boys will learn how to do this. The teacher of agriculture will keep accounts of the farm attached to the school. He will maintain at least the following in the forms prescribed at the end :—

(i) Land and Buildings Register.
(ii) Live stock Register.
(iii) Dead stock and Implements Register.
(iv) Produce Register.
(v) Cash Book.
(vi) Ledger.
(vii) Profit and Loss Account.
(viii) Balance sheet.

EXAMINATION IN AGRICULTURE.

Chapters XII and XV (a) of the Board's Regulations.

CHAPTER XII.

EXAMINATIONS.

General Rules.

1. The Board shall conduct the following examinations:—

(a) The High School Examination.

(b) The Intermediate Examination.

(c) The Commercial Diploma Examination.

(d) The Agricultural Diploma Examination.

2. The Board's examinations shall be held at such centres and on such dates and at such times as the Board may from time to time appoint.

3. The tests at the Board's examinations may be partly oral or practical and partly written. Oral and practical tests shall be carried out by examiners appointed by the Board in such manner as the Examinations' Committee may prescribe from time to time. Written tests shall be by means of question papers, and the question papers shall be given out simultaneously at every centre at which the examination is being held.

4. Every candidate for admission to an examination held by the Board shall, not less than twelve weeks before the date fixed for the commencement of the examination,—

(a) pay the fee prescribed for the examination,

(b) state the optional subject or subjects in which he desires to present himself for examination, and

(c) furnish the Secretary with a certificate showing—

(i) that he has completed a regular course[*] of study in a recognized institution, or

(ii) that he has been permitted by the Board to appear as a private candidate.

5. The following fees shall be paid in respect of the examinations held by the Board :—

(1) High School Examination ...	Rupees 15 by each candidate from a recognized institution.
(2) Ditto ...	Rupees 20 by each private candidate.
(3) Intermediate Examination ...	Rupees 25 by each candidate from a recognized institution.
(4) Ditto ...	Rupees 30 by private candidates.
(5) Commercial Diploma Examination	Rupees 25 by each candidate from a recognized institution.
(6) Ditto ...	Rupees 30 by private candidates.
(7) Agricultural Diploma Examination	Rupees 25 by each candidate from a recognized institution, and rupees 30 by each private candidate (if any).
(8) Examination in one subject only	Rupees 5.
(9) Examination in more than one subject	Rupees 5 for each subject.
(10) Fee for checking the results of failed candidates ...	Rupees 10 per candidate.

[*] Regulation 4, Chapter XVII—The Board shall, for the purposes of a regular course of study, prescribe the minimum number of meetings of a class that must be held in preparation for any of its examination.[†]

[†] Note.—"The minimum number of days that recognized institutions including classes XI and XII will be opened will be 180; for other recognized institutions the minimum number will be 200.

No candidate will be presented for an examinaton of the Board by a recognized institution unless he has been present (in classes IX and X in the case of the High School Examination and in classes XI and XII in the case of the Intermediate Examination) for at least 75 per cent. of the days the institution was open during two academical years.

In the case of failed and detained candidates the percentage will be calculated for one academical year only.

The head of a recognized institution may condone a deficiency of not more than six days. All cases in which this privilege is exercised will be reported to the Board.

The Board may, in very special cases, condone a deficiency of not more than 15 days."

6. A candidate who fails to pass, or who from sickness or other sufficient cause is unable to present himself for any examination, shall not receive a refund of his fee:

Provided the Board may, on application, admit a candidate who was unable to present himself for any examination to the next ensuing examination without payment of a further fee:

Provided also that the fee may not be held over for the next ensuing examination in the case of a candidate who absented himself from a part of the examination.

7. The Secretary shall, after satisfying himself that a candidate has complied with all the requirements for admission to an examination of the Board, furnish the candidate with a card of admission on presentation of which to the local Superintendent of the examination the candidate shall be permitted to sit for the examination.

8. Notwithstanding anything contained in these regulations, no candidate who has been expelled or is still undergoing rustication shall be admitted to any examination of the Board.

9. The Secretary, if satisfied that a candidate's admission card has been lost or destroyed, may grant a duplicate card on payment of a further fee of Rs. 2.

10. Private candidates shall be eligible to appear at the Board's examinations on the conditions hereinafter laid down.

11. A candidate who desires to offer himself for examination as a private candidate shall, not later than the 1st of October, preceding the date fixed for the next ensuing examination, send in an application to the Secretary, through the Inspector of Schools of his division or the head of an educational institution recognized by the Board for the examination in question, in the prescribed form, setting forth—

(a) his age at the time of the application,

(b) the conditions under which he has been studying and is proposing to continue his studies,

(c) the optional subject or subjects which he offers.

He should also forward the original copy of the scholar's register granted to him by the institution, if any, at which he last studied.

12. Such applications from intending private candidates shall be referred to the Standing Committee of the Board appointed to scrutinize applications from private candidates.

13. Such applications, after being scrutinized by the Committee, shall either be granted or rejected by it.

14. Notwithstanding anything contained in these regulations, any female candidate, who is not studying at a recognized institution, may be admitted by the Committee referred to in Regulation 12 above as a private candidate to any of its examinations unconditionally, except that before appearing at the Intermediate Examination two years should have elapsed since the date of her passing the High School or an equivalent Examination.

15. Except when otherwise provided in these regulations, the names of candidates who have passed an examination of the Board shall be placed in three divisions, and further, the names of students from recognized institutions shall be grouped according to the institutions in which they have studied.

16. A candidate who has failed in an examination may present himself for one or more subsequent examinations, provided that he shall on each and every such occasion satisfy the Secretary that he has fulfilled the conditions laid down in the regulations for the admission of candidates to the Board's examinations.

17. A candidate who has failed in an examination may be admitted to a subsequent examination without attending a regular course of study in a recognized institution, provided—

(a) that he has not pursued his studies at an educational institution of any kind;

(b) that not less than six months before the date fixed for the next examination he sends an application to the Secretary, through and recommended by the head of the institution at which he last studied, in the prescribed form, setting out—

(i) the conditions under which he has been studying and is now proposing to continue his studies,

(ii) the dates of his failing in the examination;

(c) that, in the case of a candidate who has taken Science as an optional subject, he passed the practical examination at his last appearance for the examination.

18. Any candidate who has obtained 40 per cent. of the aggregate number of marks, but has failed in one subject only, obtaining not less than 25 per cent. in that subject, shall be admitted to a subsequent examination in the subject in which he failed on payment of the fee prescribed in these regulations; and if he passes in that subject he shall be deemed to have passed the examination.

19. Heads of recognized institutions are not entitled to detain candidates who have fulfilled the conditions laid down for permission to appear at one of the Board's examinations, except for very grave reasons and with the previous sanction of the Chairman of the Board.

CHAPTER XV(a).

AGRICULTURAL DIPLOMA EXAMINATION.

1. Every candidate for admission to the Agricultural Diploma Examination shall be required to have passed the Board's High School Examination, or an examination equivalent thereto, and to have, since the passing of this examination, prosecuted a regular course of study for not less than two academical years at an institution recognized by the Board for the Agricultural Diploma Examination.'

2. The following are the subjects of examination arranged in groups. The Board may make such additions and alterations in them as it may from time to time decide :—

Group I.—Elementary Farm Chemistry and Elementary Farm Physics.
„ II.—Botany and Elementary Zoology.
„ III.—Agriculture A—Farm Crops, Elementary Economics, Horticulture and Climatology.
„ IV.—Agriculture B—Introduction to Animal Husbandry, Elementary Irrigation, Drainage and Farm Machinery.
„ V.—English.

AGRICULTURAL DIPLOMA EXAMINATION OF 1927.

N.B.—Preference for admission to this course will be given to candidates who have studied (a) Chemistry and Physics or (b) Agriculture in their admission test examination.

The following are the subjects of examination :—

Group I
1. Elementary Farm Chemistry.
2. Elementary Farm Physics.

Group II
1. Botany.
2. Elementary Zoology.

Group III Agriculture A
1. Farm Crops.
2. Elementary Economics.
3. Horticulture.
4. Climatology.

Group IV Agriculture B
1. Introduction to Animal Husbandry.
2. Elementary Irrigation and Drainage.
3. Farm Machinery.

Group V English.

The following papers will be set :—

Group I
1. Elementary Farm Chemistry—One paper of three hours.
2. Elementary Farm Physics—One paper of three hours.

Group II
1. Botany—One paper of three hours.
2. Elementary Zoology—One paper of three hours.

Group III Agriculture A
1. Farm Crops and Elementary Economics—One paper of three hours.
2. Horticulture and Climatology—One paper of three hours.

There will be a practical examination of two hours in Farm Crops and Horticulture only in this Group.

Group IV Agriculture B
1. Introduction to Animal Husbandry—One paper of three hours.
2. Elementary Irrigation and Drainage, and Farm Machinery—One paper of three hours.

There will be a practical examination of two hours in Introduction to Animal Husbandry and Farm Machinery only in this group.

Group V English—Two Papers of three hours each. The first paper will be on composition and translation and the second paper on general topics of interest based on newspaper reading, not of a political character.

The syllabus in each subject is as follows :—

GROUP I.

ELEMENTARY FARM CHEMISTRY.

(1) Inorganic.

Common properties of matter.

Atoms, molecules, symbols, formulae, equations and chemical calculations.

The fundamental principles of Chemistry, the atomic theory, laws of definite and multiple proportions, Avogadro's hypothesis, Boyle's and Charles' laws, elements, compounds, chemical combination and mechanical mixture.

The sources, preparation and properties of the following elements and their compounds which are of importance in connection with Agriculture :—

Hydrogen, oxygen and water. Temporary and permanent hardness of water, method for softening them.

Nitrogen, ammonia, oxides of nitrogen, nitric acid and the nitrates. Nitrification.

The atmosphere. The physical and chemical properties of the air and its constituents.

Oxidation and reduction. Acids, bases and salts.

Halogens :—Chlorine, hydrochloric acid and the chlorides.

Sulphur :—Sulphur dioxide and trioxide, sulphuric acid and the sulphates, sulphuretted hydrogen and the sulphides.

Phosphorus :—Phosphorus pentoxide, phosphoric acid and the phosphates.

Arsenic and arsenious oxide.

Silicon, silica and the silicates.

Carbon and carbonic acid and the corbonates.

The following metals and their chief compounds :—Sodium, potassium ammonium, lead, copper, iron, aluminium, calcium, manganese and magnesium.

(2) Organic.

Occurrence, preparation, properties and uses of—

Common saturated and unsaturated hydrocarbons, alcohols, fatty acids, fats, oils, soaps, carbohydrates and organic nitrogenous compounds.

Laboratory work to consist of experiments, recorded in note-books based upon the problems developed from the syllabus.

The following books are suggested for reference :—

I. "Every Day Chemistry," Alfred Vivian, American Book Co., New York. Price about Rs. 5.

2. A foundation course in Chemistry for students of Agriculture and Technology, by J. W. Dodgson and J. A. Murray, Longmans, Green and Co., Calcutta. Price about Rs. 3.

3. Introduction to the Study of Inorganic Chemistry, by W. A. Miller, Longmans, Green and Co., Calcutta. Price about Rs. 4.

4. Agriculcural Chemistry, by R. H. Adie and T. W. Wood, Vol. 1, Kegan Paul, Truck, Trubner and Co., Ltd., Paternoster House, Charing Cross Road, London. Price about Rs. 4.

5. Organic Chemistry, by Perkin and Kippling, W. R. Chambers, Ltd., London. Price about Rs. 7.

6. Elementary Agricultural Chemistry, by H. Ingle, Charles, Griffin and Co., Ltd., London. Price about Rs. 4.

ELEMENTARY FARM PHYSICS.

1. Units and measurements, metric system, length, area and volume. The balance and methods of weighing. Use of screw gauge and callipers. Mass and density.

2. Gravitation ; falling bodies.

3. Liquids and gases. Forces due to weight of a liquid. Forces transmitted by a liquid. Archimedes' principle. Properties of gases. Expansibility and compressibility of gases. Atmospheric density and barometers. Applications of air pressure ; pumps.

4. Heat. Effect of heat on solids, liquids and gases. Change of volume with temperature. Thermometers. Transference of heat.

5. Light ; rectilinear propagation of light. Shadows. Lenses. Images. Refraction. Colour.

6. Magnetism, magnetic forces and magnets. Compass.

7. Electricity. Production of electricity by friction. Properties of a charged body. Insulators. Conductors. Electroscopes. Batteries. Magnetic effect of currents. Electro-magnetic induction.

Laboratory work to consist of experiments, recorded in note-books, based upon the problems, developed from the syllabus.

The following books are suggested for reference :—

A High School Course in Physics, by F. R. Gorton, D. Appleton and Co., New York. Price about Rs. 5.

SOILS (SOIL PHYSICS).

The origin of soils and processes of their formation.

The nature of soil constituents, sand, clay chalk, and humus.

The classification of soils according to their constituents and origin.

Soil properties.

Manures—(a) Organic manures ; (b) Chemical fertilizers.

The following books are suggested for reference:—

1. "The Soil," by A. D. Hall, John Murray, London.
2. "The Physical Properties of Soils," by A. G. McCall, Orange Judd and Co., New York. Price about Rs. 2-12.
3. "First Principles of Soil Fertility," by Alfred Vivian, Orange Judd and Co., New York, or Christ Book and Tract Society, Allahabad. Price Rs. 2-7.
4. "Soils, their Properties and Management," Lyon, Fippin and Buckman, Macmillan & Co., New York. Price Rs. 10.
5. "Soils and Fertilizers," Harry Snyder, Macmillan and Co., New York.

GROUP II.

BOTANY.

1ST YEAR.

Fundamental Principles of Biology (Introductory).

General morphology (study in detail):—

Root and its modification.
Stem and its modification.
Leaves—arrangement of leaves, modification of leaves.
Flower—inflorescence, floral leaves, floral diagram.
Pollination—floral adaptations.
Fruits—classification and dispersal.
Life history of maize and pea.

Internal anatomy.—Study of cell; elementary histology of root, stem, leaf.

2ND YEAR.

Physiology (study in outline):—

Chemical composition of the plant.
Absorption of nutrient substances.
Assimilation of food materials.
Transpiration.
Growth.
Reproduction (including germination of seed).

Classification—Principles of classification.

Study of Bacillus, Mucor, Spirogyra.

Fern and the following orders:—

Leguminaceae (Papillionaceae).
Cruciferae.
Malvaceae.
Solanaceae.

Cucurbitaceae.

Graminaceae.

Weeds—any plant out of place—Common weeds of cultivation—Method of dispersal and perenation—relation to weed control—Weeds as related to different soil conditions—of rice land—of dry grain land—Weeds as indicators of soil conditions.

The work should be such that the students are enabled to make their own observations and deductions. Field excursions under proper supervision should be carried on regularly, special attention being given to field crops.

Students will be required to submit at the final examination notes of field observations and work in the laboratory certified by the lecturer.

The following books are suggested for reference :—

1. "Text-book of Botany" (Indian Edition), Lowson and Sohni, London University Tutorial Press or Thacker, Spink and Co.
2. "Practical Botany," Cavers, London University Tutorial Press or Thacker, Spink and Co.
3. "Manual of Botany for Indian Schools," Government Press, Madras.
4. "Agricultural Botany," Perival Duckworth & Co., 3, Henrietta St., Covent Garden, London, W. C., or Thacker, Spink and Co.

ELEMENTARY ZOOLOGY.

Distinctive properties of protoplasm, nutrition, growth, respiration, secretion, excretion and reproduction.

The cell—its methods of division and differentiation.

Practical acquaintance of the following :—

Amoeba, paramoecium, earthworm, cockroach, frog, rabbit (or other small mammal).

Each candidate will be required to submit notes of work in the laboratory properly certified by the lecturer.

The following books are suggested for reference :—

1. "Practical Zoology," Parker & Parker, Macmillan & Co.
2. "A Text-book of Zoology," Wells & Davis, London University Tutorial Press, or Thacker, Spink and Co.
3. "Agricultural Zoology," Theobald, Wm. Blackwood & Sons, Edinburgh.

GROUP III.

AGRICULTURE A.

FARM CROPS.

Classification, origin and distribution of farm crops.

Early culture of plants; number of cultivated plants, classification by use, important botanical groups, most important crops, factors affecting culture of crops.

Cropping systems:—Productiveness, effects of cropping, single system, alternating, rotation, results and effects of different systems.

Juar:—Origin, classification, varieties, growth and development, effect of climate, soils for juar and potatoes, importance of adaptation, fertilization, selection, improvement, tests, preparation of land, tillage, harvesting and utilizing, insects and diseases, seed judging.

Crops to be studied:—

(1) Cereals: Wheat, millets, etc.
(2) Fibres: Cotton, flax, etc.
(3) Oil-seeds: Castor, linseed, etc.
(4) Roots: Carrots, turnips, etc.
(5) Legumes: Peas, groundnuts, etc.
(6) Fodder: Juar, lucern, etc.
(7) Miscellaneous: Tobacco, tea, etc.

The following books are suggested for reference:—

1. Agricultural Note-book of Facts and Figures for the United Provinces to be published shortly by the department of Agriculture, United Provinces.
2. The Complete Farmer, by Premirose McCommell, Cassell & Co., London.

ELEMENTARY ECONOMICS.

Introduction.—What is Economics? Why is one nation richer than another? Why is one man richer than another? What is wealth? How does it differ from income? The whole course is an answer to these questions.

Production.—What does it cost to produce wheat on a village farm in the United Provinces? Cost of labour, ploughing, sowing, weeding, reaping, threshing, etc. Purchase and depreciation. Interest on all expenses till the crop is sold. Rent of the land and transportation to the bazaar. Cost of supervision.

Examine similarly the cost of producing and marketing milk and other common necessities.

Exchange.—Has it paid to produce wheat and milk at the above cost? What are the present prices of wheat, milk, etc., in the United Provinces for different qualities, at different seasons and for the last five years? What causes these differences and changes? Laws of supply and demand and causes for variation. Relation of prices to cost of production over a period of years.

Consumption.—Why do we demand wheat, cotton, milk, pottery, tools? Wants and their varying importance. Necessities, comforts, luxuries. Division of income between various wants. Budgets of students and villagers. Do we get equal satisfaction from equal expenditure? How do we change our purchase when prices fall and when our incomes increase?

Difference in the cost of production and distribution.—Why do rents differ? Kinds of land. Advantages of fertility and situation.

Why do rates of interest differ? Short and long loans; risks and management of loans. Co-operative credit. Relation of the rate of interest to the supply of capital. Causes of saving.

Why do wages differ? Grades of labour. Efficiency of labour. Real and nominal wages. Cost of living and the standard of living. Relation of wages to the supply of labour. Relation of birth-rates and death-rates to income.

Organization and management.—In what different ways might wheat be produced? Does the method depend upon situation? Wages? The rate of interest? Education? Quality of the product? How is the method actually determined? By whom?

Carry out this reasoning for milk and other common necessities.

In what cases is it most profitable to use a railway, a bicycle and one's feet? Compare the uses of handwriting, typewriting and printing press. Hand-sewing and the sewing machine. Why do primitive methods continue in use along with more advanced ones?

Money, banking and foreign exchange, barter, uses of money, reasons for minting and for free coinage, paper money and cheques. The work of banks and their economic importance. India's foreign trade and its advantages.

Taxation.—The necessity for taxation. The income-tax, custom duties, land revenue and excise. Who bears these taxes? Reasons for progressive taxation. Imperial and local taxation.

The following books are suggested for reference:—

1. Elements of Economics, Vol. I, by Alfred Marshall, Macmillan & Co., London.
2. An Indroduction of Economics for Indian students, by Moreland.

HORTICULTURE.

Vegetable Gardening.

The place of vegetable on the farm—as a main crop—as a side issue—yield per acre—expense—relation to other farm operation.

Food value of vegetables and fruit—as substitute for grains and meat—carbohydrates contained—as addition to grains and meats—acids, minerals and vitamines—different types of food and their functions—roughage and variety—vegetables necessary in balanced ration.

Types of vegetables—annuals and perennials—root, tuber, bulb, foliage and fruit vegetables.

General production—seed; its acquisition; browing seed; seed selection; seed preservation; the seed bed; its necessity, preparation and treatment—preparation of land, clearing, levelling, grading, manuring, fencing, division into plots, irrigation systems, paths, planting, in field or beds, transplanting, thinning, weeding, cultivation, irrigation, harvesting, marketing.

Special crops—potato, tomato, brinjal, peppers, the legumes, beets, turnips, carrots, radishes, lettuce, celery, sweet potato, yam, cole crops, cucurbits, okra, spinach, sag, maize, onion, leek, garlic, asparagus, globe and Jerusalem artichokes.

The following books are suggested for reference:—

1. "Firmenger's Manual of Gardening for India," W. Burns, Thacker, Spink and Co. Price Rs. 10.
2. "Gollan's Indian Vegetable Garden," Normal Gill, Thacker, Spink and Co.,

or

Fruit Growing.

Opportunities. Demand for fruit; wealth of varieties; suitability of climate; long season; present small production; present inferior quality; possibilities in quality; production of superior quality.

Choice of enterprise; selection of land; favourable climate; fertile soil, slope for irrigation, drainage and prevention of erosion, size and shape; available labour, available market, roads and railroads in fruit-growing district; spirit of people; condition for family life; religious, school, medical aid; water supply; selection of fruits to be grown; advantages of specialization; and generalization; suitability to region; experience of grower; demand of market; ripening season.

Preparation of land; levelling and grading; locating farm buildings; manuring; fencing; irrigation system.

Planting orchard; propagation of trees; raising seedlings; budding and grafting. stock and scions; planting plan; square, hexagonal and quincunx system; distant apart; locating positions in field; setting trees; protection of small trees.

Cultivation; clean vs. sod; cover crop in rains; ploughing; harrowing; interculture when trees are small.

Irrigation; need; sources of water; pumps and wells; distributing system; canals and bunds; pipe; application to soil; principles; effect of mulch; flooding; furrow irrigation; methods; amounts; frequency.

Measures and fertilizers; element used by plants; nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium; work of fertilizers; types used in orchards; methods of application.

Pruning; kinds; need; object; instruments; time how to make cuts desirable shape; pruning nursery stock; young trees; mature trees; rejuvenation; care of wounds; how wounds heal; dressing; root pruning; object; methods.

Thinning; definition; advantages; methods; extent; time.

Insect and disease control; damage done; type of insect; their control; types of diseases; their control; spraying; dusting; fumigation; natural enemies; resistant varieties and stocks.

Harvesting; time; picking practices; ladders; shears; receptacle; handling in field; sorting; grading; packing.

Marketing; contracting; retailing; shipping; difficulties; opportunities for co-operation.

Storage; desirability; possibility; conditions; cold storage.

Preservation and products; tinning jams and jellies; drying; great opportunity; extends market; extends season; makes demands more uniform; papain from papayas.

Special fruits; citrus; mango; guava; custard apple; papaya; date; loquat; litchi; pomegranate; mangosteen; jack-fruit; banana; cocoanut; pineapples; temperate fruits; new fruits (history, geography, description, value and culture of each of the common fruits).

The following books are suggested for reference :—

1. "Manual of Tropical and Sub-tropical Fruits," Popenoe, Macmillan and Co., New York. Price Rs. 15.
2. "Firmenger's Manual of Gardening for India," W. Burns, Thacker, Spink and Co. Price Rs. 10.
3. "Modern Fruit Growing," by Seabrook, W. R. Seabrook & Sons, Ltd., The Nurseries, Chelmsford.

CLIMATOLOGY.

Instruments used in Indian observations, the method of interpreting the observations, weather in India; effects of weather changes on crops; distribution of crops and pest according to climates.

The following books are suggested for reference :—

1. Agricultural Meteorology, by Warren Smith, Macmillan & Co., New York.
2. Forecasting Weather, by W. A. Shaw, Constable & Co., London.

GROUP IV.

AGRICULTURE B.

INTRODUCTION TO ANIMAL HUSBANDRY.

PART 1.—Judging. Placing with reasons market classes of dairy cattle, draft cattle and poultry, including trips to farms of prominent live-stock breeders.

PART 2.—Feeds, feeding and management. Handling of feeding stuffs and compounding rations. The care and handling of all classes of live-stock mentioned in Part 1 above, including housing. The marketing of their products.

PART 3.—Elementary principles of veterinary science. External and internal anatomy of the cow and domestic fowl.

Physiology of (1) Digestion, (2) Milk secretion, (3) Reproduction, (4) Muscular system.

The following books are suggested for reference :—

1. "Feeding of Crops and Stock," by A. D. Hall.
2. "The Complete Farmer," by Premirose McCommell.
3. "Judging Live-stock," John A. Craig, Kenyon Printing Co., Des Moines, Iowa. Price Rs. 7.
4. "Feeds and Feeding" (abridged edition), by Henry and Morrison, Publishers, Henry and Morrison, Madison. Wiscon. Price Rs. 10.

ELEMENTARY IRRIGATION AND DRAINAGE.

I.—Irrigation—

1. Hydraulic terminology; defintion of terms to be used.

2. Sources of water for irrigation; canals for flow irrigation. Lift irrigation; well irrigation.

Tanks—Advantages and limitations of tanks—Design of tanks, with regard to capacity when full, effect of shape and depth on evaporation loss, average annual evaporation loss from open bodies of water; effect of tanks on mosquito control.

Limiting factors and difficulties in pumping from a river.

3. Elementary types of pumps and water-lifts, bullock and hand-power. Water-supply for use in the home.

4. Distribution systems—

Flow systems, pakka and kachcha channels.

II—Drainage—

1. Conditions making drainage necessary or profitable in India; types of soils and situations which usually require drainage. Possible relations between irrigation and drainage.

2. Types of drains, open ditches, "blind stone" drains, drainage by "mole-hole machine," tile drains, adaptability to different uses, principles governing installation, as proper levels, depth to be laid, types of outlet.

The following books are suggested for reference:—

1. "Agriculture and Irrigation in continental and tropical climates," K. D. Doyle, Thacker, Spink & Co., Price Rs. 16-8.
2. Irrigation and Drainage, by King, Mount Pleasant Press, Horrisburg Pa.

FARM MACHINERY.

Course to treat of the common machines used for the following purposes:—

1. Preparation of soil—
   Plough, harrow, roller, drag.
2. Seeding—
   Various types of seeders from deshi plough with bamboo attached to a large grain drills.
3. Weeding and cultivation—
   Hand tools such as khurpee, phawra, hoe, etc., cultivators adapted to animal draft.
4. Harvesting methods and machines—
   Hand and power.
5. Threshing machinery, silage-cutter and orther machines for preparaing crops for use.

This term's work to treat of one type of internal combustion oil engine of any well-known make.

Carpentry or workshop practice in wood during the 1st year.

Smith or workshop practice in iron during the 2nd year.

Application of triangle of forces. Equilibrium of parallel forces. Principle of moments.

Work and energy. Friction. Machines; principles of the pulley lever, inclined plane, screw and wedge.

The following books are suggested for reference:—

1. "Farm Mechanics," by Crawshaw and Behman, Manual Arts Press, Peoria, III.
2. "Farm Machinery and Farm Motors," Davidson, Thacker, Spink & Co. Price Rs. 11-8.

ELEMENTARY SURVEYING.

1ST YEAR.

The value of mensuration; drawing to scale; preliminary considerations when commencing a survey. Knowledge of apparatus used in ordinary survey—not including levels, Surveyors' field book; ability to enter up neatly and correctly from data collected in the field. Errors in measurement. Each student should know the length of his average pace. The length of a chain and a tape in use should be marked on the floor of one of the College verandahs and variations during different times of the year in length recorded.

Measurement of fields not requiring use of offsets. Measurement and entry in field-book of offsets. Plotting from field-book with offset scale. How to pole out a line when surveying over hilly ground. The survey by plain chain traversing of a small plot such as the lawn in front of the College.

2ND YEAR.

The survey of a small plot such as the lawn in front of the College, including roads and hedges surrounding it. Plotting of the survey to a definite scale.

Ability to traverse with chain and prismatic compass. Reduction of bearings.

Levelling—Ability to set up and use the builders and contractors' level, the Dumpy level with staff and to make entries in the level book. How to reduce levels. How to plot levels on a survey map.

A level survey of a definite piece of ground to be done and a map prepared of the same showing contour lines.

The following books are suggested for reference:—

1. "Agricultural Surveyors and Estate Agent's Hand-book of Practical Rules, Formulæ, Tables and Data," T. Bright, Thacker Spink and Co. Price Rs. 7 8.
2. "Practical Surveying and Field work," by Salmon, Charles Griffin & Co., London.

Sources of power for pumping.

A comparison of engines, including steam, electricity and oil engines with each other and with oxen as to capacity, cost of installation, depreciation and repair, number of men required and cost per unit of water or land. The comparison to be limited to information not necessitating the detailed study of engines.

Distribution systems:

Pipe systems with valve outlets and pressure, and pipe with stand-pipe outlets for surface irrigation. Sub-surface irrigation. Overhead irrigation.

GROUP V.

GENERAL ENGLISH.

The following books are suggested for reference:—

1. Men and Books, R. L. Stevenson.
2. The Little Minister, J. M. Barrie.
3. Daddy Long Legs, Jean Webster.

BOARD OF HIGH SCHOOL AND INTERMEDIATE EDUCATION, UNITED PROVINCES.

The following rules for the scrutiny of marks and the checking of the results of failed candidates are published for general information.

1. Any candidate who has failed at an examination conducted by the Board may apply to the Secretary for the scrutiny of his marks and the re-checking of his result.

2. Such applications must be made within two months from the date of the publication of the result and must be forwarded by the Head of the institution or other authority who forwarded the candidate's original application for permission to appear at the examination.

3. All such applications must be accompanied by a copy of the Treasury chalan showing that the prescribed fee of Rs. 10 has been paid. In the case of candidates belonging to Indian States this fee must be sent in cash to the office of the Secretary.

4. A candidate shall not be entitled to a refund of the fee unless as a result of the scrutiny he is declared successful in the examination.

5. If on scrutiny and re-checking, a failed candidate is found to have passed, his name shall be at once published in the Gazette in a supplementary list. In all other cases the result of the scrutiny shall be communicated to the candidate through the Head of the institution or other forwarding authority as soon as possible.

PART IV.

OFFICE OF SECRETARY, TEXT-BOOK COMMITTEE, UNITED PROVINCES.

NOTICE.

The attention of publishers is invited to the following resolution passed by the Text-Book Committee at its meeting held on April 9, 1925, and approved by Government :—

" The Committee recommends that the publishers of text-books be informed that they may include in new editions of their books patriotic poems and lessons on patriotism, religious toleration, and national unity provided that they are not such as to arouse class, communal or racial feeling. Such poems and lessons should be submitted separately to the Text-Book Committee for approval before they are incorporated in the text-books.

The Committee also recommends that publishers should be asked to prepare a collection of Urdu and Hindi patriotic poems suitable for recitation in schools and submit them to the Text-Book Committee for approval. They must be of such a character as not to arouse class, communal or racial feeling."

BOARD OF HIGH SCHOOL AND INTERMEDIATE EDUCATION, UNITED PROVINCES.

The following Press Communiqué is published for general information:—

The annual meeting of the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, United Provinces (the first meeting of the Board reconstituted under section 5 of the Intermediate Education Act, 1921), was held at Allahabad on November 6 and 7, 1925, with the Director of Public Instruction (Mr. A. H. Mackenzie) in the chair.

The Board appointed Committees of Courses in the following subjects or groups of subjects:—

English; Sanskrit and Hindi; Arabic, Persian and Urdu; History and Civics; Geography; Bengali, Marathi, Gujrati, etc.; Greek, Latin, Hebrew and Modern European Languages; Mathematics; Physics and Chemistry; Biology; Agriculture; Drawing, Manual Training and Metal Work; Domestic Science, Physiology, Hygiene and Child-Study; Commerce; Economics; Logic; Indian Music.

The Board appointed also the following Committees:—

Examinations' Committee, Recognition Committee, Finance Committee, Curriculum Committee and Committee to scrutinise applications from private candidates.

The Board considered a resolution of the Legislative Council with regard to the medium of instruction and examination and re-affirmed its previous resolution permitting candidates for the High School Examination to answer questions in English or in Hindi or Urdu in all subjects other than English. The Board expressed the opinion that Hindi or Urdu should ordinarily be the medium of instruction in all subjects except English up to the High School stage.

The Board revised the list of persons nominated as Inspectors for the inspection of Intermediate Colleges.

The Board finally passed the courses of study for the High School, Intermediate, Commercial Diploma and Agricultural Diploma Examinations of 1928 and resolved that the curriculum for the Middle Section of Anglo-Vernacular Boys' and Girls' Schools for 1925-26 should be continued for 1926-27.

To ensure the systematic performance of practical work by students preparing for the High School Examination the Board decided that a chart giving a list of the experiments to be performed and the date on which each student completes each experiment should be maintained and hung in the laboratory of each of the High Schools recognized in Science.

The following new institution was recognized by the Board as a High School:—

Anglo-Sanskrit Middle School, Basti.

The Board appointed assistant examiners, co-examiners and practical examiners for the examinations of 1926.

The following new examination centres were fixed for the examinations of 1926:—

(1) Kayastha Pathshala Intermediate College, Allahabad, for the Commercial Diploma Examination.

(2) N. R. E. C. Intermediate College, Khurja, for the Commercial Diploma Examination.

(3) Ewing Christian College, Allahabad, for the Agricultural Diploma Examination in respect of the written examinations.

(4) Agricultural Institute, Naini, Allahabad, for the Agricultural Diploma Examination in respect of the practical examinations.

The Board resolved that failed candidates who are eligible for the compartmental examination should have two chances of re-appearing in the examination in two consecutive years.

The Board made a draft Regulation intended to enable students who have passed the Intermediate Examination of the Board or an examination equivalent thereto to appear at any subsequent Intermediate Examination or Examinations conducted by the Board in any subject in which they have not previously passed the Intermediate Examination, provided that in the case of a subject for which practical work or a practical examination is prescribed they produce evidence satisfactory to the Board that they have completed the practical course prescribed for the subject.

The Board fixed the scale of remuneration for the Agricultural Diploma Examination.

The Board recognized the examinations in Arabic and Persian conducted by the United Provinces Education Department and the examinations in Sanskrit conducted by the Government Sanskrit College, Benares, and the Benares Hindu University as public examinations in an Oriental Language for purposes of entitling candidates to apply for permission to appear in English only at the High School and Intermediate Examinations.

The Board decided that "Spinning and Weaving" should form part of the course in Domestic Science for the High School Examination.

By order,

A. C. MUKERJI, M.A., RAI BAHADUR,

Secretary, Board of High School and Intermediate Education,

NOTICE.

IN pursuance of Government of India, Finance department, resolution no. 1725-F.E., dated the 23rd August, 1922, as modified by their notification no. F-12/XXI-F.-E., dated the 4th June, 1925, notice is hereby given that candidates desirous of applying to have their names registered for the examination of candidates in India for admission to the general list of the Indian Audit department should send in their applications so as to reach this office not later than the 1st February, 1926. A candidate desirous of having his name registered should pay a fee of Rs. 5 into a Government treasury and enclose the treasury receipt with his application. The applications, which should be in the candidate's own handwriting, should contain information regarding the educational qualifications of the candidates as well as information regarding any services that may have been rendered to the State by their parents or family. The optional subjects in which they would, if nominated, offer themselves for the examination should also be stated. The following papers should accompany the application :—

(1) A duly verified statement of age. (A true copy of the School-Leaving or Matriculation Examination Certificate should be sent.)

(2) Attested copies of certificates of character and education.

(3) A statement, duly supported, showing the mathematical reading which the candidate has done and the examinations involving mathematics which he has passed.

Candidates who are members of a University should send their application forms through the Registrar of the University, those who are members of an associated college through their Principal, and those who are teachers in recognized schools through the Inspector of the division.

It must be clearly understood that registration of a candidate's name does not, in any way, imply that he will be nominated for admission to the examination.

A nominated candidate will be required to pay a fee of Rs. 50 for each nomination.

Copies of the rules may be obtained from the office of the Director of Public Instruction on application.
